PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. George F. Conner, offered the following prayer:

Almight God, Father of men and light of the world, shed forth Thy light upon the honored members and officers of this General Assembly. Without Thee, there is darkness. The loveliest jewels, in a dark room, are dead and lusterless, but let the light play upon them and they are iridescent with all the colors of the sunset. And also grant Thy light to the people whom we serve. In these days of turmoil and depression, the mind of the masses is horizoned with shadows, and for many, the future is enveloped in fog and shrouded in mystery.

Give to these chosen leaders, a dear vision to guide the affairs of State, wisely and well 'till all the shadows are vanished in the brightness of the day. Amen.

STATEMENT BY MR. CANNON

Mr. CANNON asked and obtained unanimous consent to make the following statement:

Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen of the House:

It is a known fact we have been in session for a period now starting the thirteenth week, while we are scheduled to adjourn by what will eventually be fifteen weeks. As you all know the date has been set, we have many bills before this house, bills of importance, especially bills of relief, for which the people of this Commonwealth are in need.

It may appear to you, we went on record last week, while in session, and furnished funds to care for those in distress, destitute and in want. I dare say through no fault of their own, but a majority have lost their homes and more to follow in the future, thus it is a known fact for some to have lost their savings in the banks that have closed in the past.

You can readily say we have already taken steps to aid those in distress true enough, but how by a paltry sum for only April and May, where shall we get from here? And you may consider that you are doing great work, but in the proper estimation are only playing with those less fortunate, and wearing down the morale of those destitute.

Relief again may come to other sources such as the Protection of public Health, Safety and Welfare by staying all proceedings to sell real property on mortgage foreclosures for a period of time as necessary.

Relief may also come to those aged through the Old Age Pension which it seems so difficult to get out of committee and more difficult by what arose in the past week.

Hon. Grover C. Talbot in his address to this assembly on his election as speaker. Quote ("We are all Pennsylvanians so the responsibility is ours; let us meet the problems fairly and squarely.") Remember also our constituents are Pennsylvanians.

Along with this it is worthy of note action is mostly necessary and not a variety of faith cures or falling blunder but think deeply and bravely. I wish to repeat and request we do not have any cessation of relief from any source in the future but as a remedy for the existing of the conditions you will readily realize that immediate Legislative action is more necessary.

We have heard of great men in the past to whom much credit and honor are due, such as Washington and Lincoln have gone down in public history for the deeds which were performed by their activities. Take into consideration what would be said by them if they were among us here today.

In conclusion there is a cause which naturally would in response to effect. We here assemble should remember the word in gold on the ceiling of this wonderful house "And ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free." Free you shall be when the work before you is accomplished.

MOTION TO DISCHARGE COMMITTEE (SPECIAL ORDER)

The SPEAKER. The hour of 11.30 having arrived the Chair lays before the House the Special Order fixed at this time, being the motion to discharge the Committee on Constitutional Amendment from further consideration of House Bill No. 65.

The Special Order was read by the Clerk as follows:

Motion to discharge Committee on Constitutional Amendments from further consideration of House Bill 65,

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to section eighteen, article three of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the motion that is now before you is a motion seeking to discharge the Committee on Constitutional Amendments from further consideration of House Bill No. 65. House Bill No. 65 was offered on January 3rd, 1933, when the Speaker was urging us to hurry,—hurry and get through. The bill was referred on January 9th to the Committee on Constitutional Amendments, and there it has remained ever since.

Many things could be said about why it is there, why it is not out, but members of this House you certainly know what you are voting on here. You are either for discharging the committee and voting for old age pensions or you are against old age pensions. I ask you, members of this House, to take a stand now and with courage say that this committee should be discharged and this bill should be placed on the calendar. This House should meet the issue fairly and squarely and every member answer in his turn whether he is for old age pensions or whether he is against them.

I ask you to discharge this committee and vote aye on the motion.

Mr. HUTTON. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this body, in the consideration of this particular motion, is facing a very grave crisis.

I am somewhat amazed at the attitude of my friend, the gentleman from Philadelphia, who is the sponsor of this motion.

Whether this day will go down in history as a red letter day or a blue Monday for the organization of which the gentleman from Philadelphia is a member will remain for the future to determine. I do not believe that the Legislative Journal records an instance when a member from Philadelphia has taken such a position in reference to a measure in committee.

I happen to be a member of the Committee on Constitutional Amendments. I want to say that the issue before this House is not as the gentleman from Philadelphia has alleged, whether you are for or against old age pensions, but is simply the question of whether you are going to support the committee which has had this measure in charge.

Personally my mind is absolutely open on this question. I have never heard it debated, and I am willing to listen to the arguments both for and against and then determine what, as a member of the committee, is the proper course to pursue relative to the measure.

It is true, as has been said by the gentleman from Philadelphia, that this bill has been reposing in committee for some weeks, but it is also true that this bill, along with other measures, as referred to a sub-committee. I was present at the meeting when that action was taken, and it seems to me in all fairness to the committee that it should be given, by this House, an opportunity to consider this measure fairly and to consider the report of the sub-committee as it may be submitted to the full committee.

Are we going to establish here at this time a precedent in reference to the discharge of committees from consideration of bills? If so, I want to say to the members of this House that you are establishing a most dangerous precedent, and it is a sword that will cut evenly and equally both ways.

We have, as I am informed, in this House at the present time two thousand bills, in the Senate there have been offered approximately eight hundred bills, a vast mass of undigested material for committees to work out, and it seems to me, Mr. Speaker and members of this House, that this motion should be voted down as an evidence of confidence in the Committee on Constitutional Amendments.

I want to say further that as far as I am concerned personally, at a meeting subsequently to be held by this committee this measure can be given proper consideration upon the report of the sub-committee.

I resent very deeply that statement made by the gentleman from Philadelphia that those who vote against the discharge of the committee are against old age pensions, and I want to repeat that the issue is not a question of whether you are for or against old age pensions, but whether you are going to stand by a committee of this House.

I ask you, therefore, to vote down this motion.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I only arise that the facts of this matter may be properly before the House, and I greatly regret and apologize to the House that it is necessary for me to speak with my voice in its present condition.

I happen to be a member of the sub-committee to which this bill was referred. It was given to us by the Committee on March 7, before any question was raised by Mr. Sowers who never spoke to me or to any other member of the sub-committee. I don't think he knew there was a sub-committee. I don't think he made any effort to find out what the status of this bill was after the meeting of the committee, because if he had he would have come to us and asked us at least for a hearing. But on March 7th a sub-committee was appointed on this bill, and I want to present this other fact to the House, and I want you to bear in mind that when this motion is considered that last week, before the day Mr. Sowers got up and made his motion, with no thought in the mind of any member of the sub-committee, no suspicion that Mr. Sowers would make such a motion, the sub-committee met on these two bills and took them up, and considered them. These bills are not a matter that a sub-committee can decide in five minutes. It is not so easy to decide whether or not they shall go into a proposition that will cost the state of Pennsylvania and it subdivisions what this will cost——

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is discussing the merits of the bill.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken. There is a motion before the House and only a motion. The gentleman from McKean will proceed.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I am confining myself to the question as to whether or not the committee should be discharged of this bill.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from McKean was discussing the amount involved. A motion is before the House to discharge this committee.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I beg your pardon. I did not so intend to do. I was simply saying that this involved a motion as to whether or not this committee should be discharged and whether the sub-committee should be discsharged from its deliberations. I say that a sub-committee cannot decide a matter of such consequence in a few minutes, and before Mr. Sowers made his motion the sub-committee had met formally for the purpose of considering these two measures, and I want to say further that neither Mr. Sowers nor any member of this House asked any member of that sub-committee to report those bills. He never told us that he wanted them reported, never made any effort so far as the sub-committee is concerned to get us to report these bills to the committee or to get us to report them out. No such effort was made in the committee at the time we met, and this is the first notice that we have had that any such motion as this would be made.

These bills were referred to us. They are very important, they are bills that require a sub-committee to give a lot of attention to them. We have not taken as much time on them as we have taken on a number of measures in other committees of which I have been a member. I want the House to know before they vote that the sub-committee not only took these bills but we considered them, and that no member of this House, no political leader in Pennsylvania, no public official of any kind ever came to a member of that sub-committee to make any suggestion of any kind as to what we should do; nobody came near this committee.

It may be we did not move fast enough, but I want to assure this House that nobody, neither Mr. Sowers nor anybody connected with the Philadelphia delegation or any other person came to the sub-committee and asked us to hurry up or to act or asked us for any different line of action.

Mr. SARIG. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, ordinarily I am not in favor of taking bills forcibly out of the hands of a committee, but I realize also that if the people of Pennsylvania are to be given a chance to vote on this all important question next November, some action of this kind is necessary.

The Democratic members on Monday night in caucus assembled at the Penn-Harris went on record unanimously in favor of discharging the committee on House Bills Nos. 65 and 67.

Old age pensions were a part of the Democratic State platform two years ago, which was the last platform we have had. They were also a part of the National platform in 1932.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is speaking on the question of the bill and not on the motion.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken. The gentleman from Berks will confine himself to the motion before the House.

Mr. SARIG. Mr. Speaker, I therefore ask the members to vote in accordance with the action taken in caucus and in accordance with their State and National platforms.

Mr. QUINN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, noting the fine Italian hand of bitterness that is creeping into the debate on this bill, it is well, I think, that you should have a neutralizing element lest the two gentlemen, Mr. Hutton and Mr. Sowers, become involved in a controversy that might lead to a fracture of their long standing friendship. Let me suggest, as a Democrat, that I be the neutralizing factor, that we approach this humane measure in a humane spirit, not as a relief measure, not as a bitter factional measure, but as one in an attempt and effort honestly to relieve this committee of this laborious task that has been imposed upon it.

Since early in January they have ben laboring valiantly, gallantly, heroically trying to solve this apparently insoluble problem. Picture in your mind, if you can, a room littered with bills and manuscripts, men growing old and haggard, weary and tired, unshaven and perhaps unwashed trying to solve this great question. Night and day and Sundays and other days have they labored. We are now attempting to relieve them.

I noticed in the Post Office today a letter addressed to the "Committee on Delay." The Postmaster attempted to hand it to me. I suggested that it be handed to the committee handling this bill.

What is wrong with the suggestion that the House attempt to solve this complex and perplexing problem that has now taken so long to solve? If they are unable to solve it, let us help them, let us contribute our meager ability in deciding whether or not this bill should be brought out here on the floor.

Mrs. WILSON. Mr. Speaker and men and women of the House, I also am a member of the Constitutional Amendments Committee of this House. I am also in favor of the motion to discharge this committee from further consideration of House Bills 65 and 67. I am in favor of discharging the committee because I am not in a position to carry out the will of my constituents back home who elected me on a plank in our platform which provided for pensions of this kind.

I would have been willing to have come down to this body and depended upon the Committee on Constitutional Amendments presenting a measure of this kind for a vote of this body had I seen any possibility or any willingness on the part of that committee to consider legislation of that kind.

Going back a little bit, before the election of the committee, I want to say that I have been particularly interested in measures of this sort, and realizing that a measure of this kind would be placed in the Committee on Constitutional Amendments, I requested the Speaker of the House, when he asked all members to indicate the committees which they preferred, that I be placed on this committee on Constitutional Amendments, and through his assistance I was able to secure this position.

The first week of the session I also introduced a constitutional amendment providing the necessary local machinery to obtain old age pensions for men and women. I patiently waited week after week for the Committee on Constitutional Amendments, which is an extremely important committee to me, and I frequently saw the Chairman of that Committee and requested a meeting of that committee. Regardless of the fact that requests were made by other members besides myself, eight weeks went by and as the previous speaker has said not until the seventh of March was this Committee on Constitutional Amendments called and then we met in that committee. Old age pensions amendments, four sets, eight bills in all, were introduced by myself, Mr. Sowers and other members of this House, and they were immediately sidetracked without any chance at all for discussion in the committee. They were placed in the hands of a sub-committee, and down to the present time we have had no information offered by that sub-committee.

Mr. Wilson has stated that there has been nothing asked of this sub-committee. I ask you why members of the House should have to check the action of any committee or the action of any sub-committee. I think we have a right, as members of this House, to know what took place and that after a reasonable time, after a bill is in the hands of a committee or a sub-committee, we have reason to believe that it should be brought out of that committee and the members informed.

Since we have been unable through the regular channels to have this bill up for discussion, I am in favor of the motion to discharge this committee and any other committee in the House of Representatives which fails to do, as I believe, its duty to the old men and women of the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the lady from Berks, Mrs. Wilson.

The SPEAKER. Will the lady from Berks, Mrs. Wilson, permit herself to be interrogated?

Mrs. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, surely.

Mr. WILSON. I just want to ask the lady two questions, Mr. Speaker. May I ask the lady whether or not she was present at the meeting when these measures were sent to a sub-committee?

Mrs. WILSON. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WILSON. And did not the lady, Mr. Speaker, vote to send them to a sub-committee?

Mrs. WILSON. I did not get a chance, Mr. Speaker, to ask—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. BENNETT. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. BENNETT. Mr. Speaker, the point of order is that this is a discussion of the business of that committee, and is being discussed on the floor of this House.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken. Under the rules nothing can be divulged that transpired in a Committee meeting. The gentleman from McKean will proceed.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, the lady knew that the committee worked, did she not?

Mrs. WILSON. I did, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WILSON. Did the lady ever ask me or any other member of that sub-committee, Mr. Speaker, for action upon this bill.

Mrs. WILSON. I did not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WILSON. And the lady, Mr. Speaker, never came to one of us and suggested that action be taken on this bill. The lady knew who the sub-committee were.

Mrs. WILSON. I did, Mr. Speaker, and because of that fact I did not go to the committee.

Mr. BENNETT. Mr. Speaker, ladies and gentlemen of the House, this is really a serious matter and while the most serious matters of life permit the injection of some facetious elements into them during discussion, this is really and truly a serious matter.

I, as a member of this House, with a limited knowledge of parliamentary procedure, have the utmost faith and belief in preserving the integrity of a committee as established in this legislative body, but it should be the duty of every member in every legislative body under extraordinary circumstances, extraordinary conditions and extraordinary impediments to demand extraordinary methods. That is so old in its application to all human affairs as to be axiomatic.

I hold the highest regard and respect for the distinguished gentleman, Mr. Hutton, who sits down here on my left for his brilliant attainments, for his quality of mind, for his social touch and for his keeping the common touch of man. I do except, however, to his statement regarding a blue Monday. Blue to me is rather a magnificent color. There are three favorite colors in my color scheme, and they are red, white and blue.

Philadelphia should not stand up in favor of this committee being discharged right on this floor. History is a story agreed upon and by the way is the only true prophecy that is accepted by mankind. Here on the floor other members from Philadelphia in another body assembled in years gone by were told that the sword was sharpened and pointed and would cut and thrust both ways, and the indictment and condemnation of guilt and the symptoms of blue Monday were announced and pronounced on their heads, but instead of that pronouncement of condemnation materializing I have noted with a great deal of pride, as an humble member of the Philadelphia delegation, that that condemnation has materialized as a benediction. The enactment of the Workmen's Compensation act on this floor here met with the same condemnation as did the child labor laws of Philadelphia, which were fathered and came out of the imagination of the late Senator Vare, of Philadelphia.

We accept that challenge of a blue Monday. We bow with respect to the integrity of a committee, but do not let us get the issue confused.

I hate personalities. I do not indulge in them. Life is too short to hold malice or to be bitter. It only corrodes one's own soul and character and mind to engender malice or think evil of his fellow man.

This bill has been here before; it has been passed, it has been voted upon on the floor of this House in a past session. Why the objection now? Efforts of conciliation, of meditation and of discussion have utterly and absolutely failed. No one this morning who has stood on this floor in opposition to this committee's being discharged has said one reasonable word, given one pregnant fact to show why the bill should not be brought in here for discussion, for passage or for defeat. It has already been in this House at a former session, and it is only an enabling act to give the people of Pennsylvania, the right to vote on it, and they after all, in the last analysis, as in the workmen's compensation and the child labor act—they, after all are your masters and mine.

From the very mouths of the members that have stood here in defense of keeping this bill in committee and refusing you the right to have it come on this floor, comes their own accusation and condemnation; in the very fact as I have stated, that not one syllable has been articulated or valid reasons given, except the reason that the sword is out and Blue Monday is going to be registered against you. That is not a valid reason for any intelligent member of this House to hold out to this body. We are at least above the moron grade. To hold out the threat that we are going to be condemned for asking a committee to be discharged, to bring a bill into this House that has been here before and passed, that is not a free and deliberate form of passing laws in any intelligent, enlightened community of the twentieth century.

If you will permit me I will tell you a story of a colored friend down in Alabama, who was taken in for larceny—for stealing a mule. He was discharged. The poor fellow still stood there. The judge looked down at him and said: "You are discharged," he said. "Yes, sir. Yes, Mr. Judge—I—I—heard you say that," and he still remained. The judge said, "You go ahead. You go home." "Yes," he said, "that is what I thought the world 'discharged' meant, Mr. Judge, Your Honor, but that isn't what is troubling me. I wants to know does I keep the mule or does I return it?"

The condemnation has come from their own lips. Threats do not settle any discussion.

I ask every member of this House who is proud of being a Pennsylvanian—the great state, it means more than just the "Keystone" state—I ask that this committee be discharged, respectfully ask it. I ask it because this bill has been in this House before, has been discussed, debated, passed by a majority. We are asking that it be brought back to be passed upon at this time as an enabling act; that it be brought out for your constituents and mine.

Let me say in this connection that there is no feud or split in the representation in this House. There is no feud or split here imminent or anticipated. Let that fallacious idea be dissipated from the minds of the members, of the onlookers and the listeners. There is no feud nor thought of it here. There is a decent principle at stake. This government has been founded on the discussion of decent principles and the proper solution thereof, arrived at by the fathers and founders of this government. This bill was in here before. I take threat—not speaking for Philadelphia or its members, but as an humble member of this House—I take the threat of blue Monday, and I will hold my neck for the sword rather than go back to my constituents and tell them that I opposed a bill coming out upon the floor of this House, that has been pigeoned-holed, and that valid reason has not been offered why it should be detained and kept in that committee. I will go back and accept that sword gladly, without posing as a martyr, political or otherwise, rather than go back to the same people and tell them that I was opposed to there being brought upon the floor of this House a bill for old age pensions.

I ask every member of this House, irrespective of location, or political affiliation, with which you are tagged or stamped; I ask every member of this House to assert his decent rights, not in venom, not in malice, not in insult to the committee, not even in anticipation of reducing it in anyway in the future, or now assaulting the integrity of committees but because the circumstances involved demand and require, explicitly demand your action this noon that you vote that this committee be discharged and this bill be reported for your discussion, for the approval or condemnation of this House.

Mr. HUTTON. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I have the highest regard for my friend, Mr. Bennett, of Philadelphia, and I would not prolong this debate were it not for the purpose of clearing some of the insinuations in the remarks that were made.

It was not my purpose to utter any threat whatsoever. The members of this House know, and those of the Philadelphia delegation particularly, that I have a very warm spot in my heart for that delegation and many warm friends in that delegation. I was simply stating a fact, and not a threat.

Perhaps following the lead of my good friend, Mr. Bennett, and indulging in a little facetiousness we might illustrate my point by a story, which I have told on a number of occasions, and which will illustrate, probably, what might happen in connection with the favorable consideration of this motion. It is recorded that when the Confederate forces were entering the town of Chambersburg preparatory to the burning of that town on July 30, 1864, a company of home guards was called out to meet the enemy. As they marched out Lincoln Way, a number of shells were exploded, thrown by rebel batteries, first one to the right and then later to the left and then one immediately in front of them, until finally the valiant captain could stand it no longer. He turned around to his company and he issued these orders: "Company, halt." "Company right about face." "Company disperse." "Every man for himself and for God's sake don't call me 'captain.'"

I want to say in conclusion that the issue before the House is not whether these bills ought to be favorably considered or not. That is not the issue. It simply is an issue of preserving the integrity of the sub-committee and enabling the sub-committee through time, to report to the full committee and to allow the committee to act.

I ask you to vote down this motion.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the remarks of the gentleman from Franklin, Mr. Hutton and the remarks of the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Wilson, require me to lay all the cards on the table, and on the table they now go.

I have in my hands a paper signed by twelve members of the Committee on Constitutional Amendments, the paper reads: "We, the undersigned members of the Committee on Constitutional Amendments of the House of Representatives of Pennsylvania, have carefully read and studied House Bill No. 65 in the pink, printed on this sheet of paper, introduced on January 3, 1933, and referred to our committee on January 9, 1933, and have concluded that the said House Bill is in proper form and substance and desire that the said committee report the said House Bill to the House of Representatives as committed and without amendments, and we believe that the subject matter of said bill is of vital importance to the people of this Commonwealth, and that any parliamentary procedure that will place it upon the calendar for action is right and proper, and that it should be immediately placed upon the calendar."

Then follows the signatures of twelve members of the committee of twenty-five.

In addition to that I have in my hands the respective pledges of five more members of that committee agreeing to go along on old age pensions, and the remarks of some of these pledges are very laudatory of old age pensions.

Mr. Speaker, with the cards on the table, everything in black and white and a majority of the committee in favor of discharging their own committee, should a little bung hole, the little sub-committee, stop the flow.

Mr. PETERS. Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question.

The motion was seconded by Messrs. Ederer, Hermansen, Forrest, Greenstein, Craig, Stiteler, Root, Sautter, Roan, Gartner, Long, Price, Wood, Fleisher, Turner, Rice, Shreiner, Woodside, Habbyshaw, Bernhard, Green, Moore and others.

Shall the main question be now put?

It was agreed to.

MOTION TO DISCHARGE COMMITTEE (SPECIAL ORDER)

The SPEAKER. The Chair lays before the House the Special Order fixed for this time, being the motion to discharge the Committee on Constitutional Amendment from further consideration of House Bill No. 67.

The Special Order was read by the Clerk as follows:

Motion to discharge Committee on Constitutional Amendments from further consideration of House Bill 67

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to section seven, article nine of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, the same question is involved as in the preceding special order, and I think it can be disposed of without a roll call.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

On a rising vote one hundred and twenty-nine members, or more than a majority, having voted in the affirmative the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The Chairman of the Committee on Constitutional Amendment will return House Bill No. 67 to this body.

RESOLUTION

MEMORALIZING CONGRESS TO OPPOSE DOLLAR-A-DAY LABOR CAMPS

Mr. HOOPES offered the following resolution which was twice read and laid over under the rules.

In the House of Representatives, March 28, 1933.

Whereas, The unemployment relief bill proposed by President Roosevelt includes the organization of a so-called conservation corps of 250,000 men, enlisted for one year at wages of $1.00 per day and subsistence, and

Whereas, This dollar-a-day labor in construction camps of various kinds will enter into direct competition with building trades and other organized workers, and will lower even the meager standards established by State and Federal laws governing projects of this kind, and

Whereas, This scheme differs but slightly from forced labor, and the semi-military discipline which is to be inflicted is undoubtedly one of the steps towards a dictatorship of the owning class such as already exists in Italy and Germany, and

Whereas, The only effective way to cure unemployment is to put the jobless to work producing the necessities of life, at cash wages high enough to give them sufficient purchasing power to buy back all they produce and to maintain a high standard of living for themselves and their families, and

Whereas, The proposed scheme will not reduce unemployment but will tend to lower the wages of all workers to the dollar-a-day level, and to standardize and stabilize poverty for the masses in this land of plenty, and

Whereas, This proposal has already been severely condemned by many outstanding labor spokesmen, including the President of the American Federation of Labor, now therefore

Be it resolved (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize the Congress of the United States not to adopt the proposed scheme for dollar-a-day labor, but to enact measures to the end that the jobless may be put to work producing the necessities of life, at cash wages high enough to enable them to maintain a high living standard for themselves and their families.

SENATE MESSAGE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented extracts from the Journal of the Senate which were laid upon the table.

RESOLUTIONS

Mr. HERMANSEN offered the following resolution which was twice read and laid over under the rules.

In the House of Representatives, March 28, 1933.

Whereas, The first duty of the Commonwealth is to safeguard the people and to make secure the lives and liberties and the happiness of the men, women and children whose industry and existence is at all times essential to the peace and good order of the same, and

Whereas, No people can be free and equal before the law when the right of petition and representation is denied them by the mere will and caprice of any existing majority in their State Assembly, and

Whereas, We are confronted at this time with an existing condition of State-wide unemployment which has deprived large portions of our population in our large cities, and elsewhere, of their accustomed means of livelihood, and impoverish and seriously menace the stability of our homes, and our financial and industrial activities, and sufficiently endanger our existing political institutions, and

Whereas, It is deemed desirable at this time that the right of petition and the right of representation be made more general and secure in this session, and all bills and resolutions introduced, and the sponsors thereof, given an opportunity to be heard, therefore be it

Resolved, That Rule No. 40 of this House of Representatives be amended, by striking out the last seven words which are as follows: "majority vote of all the members elect," and inserting in lieu thereof the following, "eighty votes of all the members elect, and placed upon the calendar," so that the section as amended will read as follows:

No. 40, That when a bill or resolution has been ten days in the hands of a committee, after having been referred to it, any committee may be discharged from the further consideration of the bill or resolution by eighty votes of all the members elect, and placed upon the calendar.

INVESTIGATING STATE TEACHERS COLLEGES

Mr. STERLING offered the following resolution which was twice read and laid over under the rules.

In the House of Representatives, March 28, 1933.

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the State Council of Education is hereby directed to make a thorough survey and investigation of the character and condition of the buildings and equipment of the several State teachers colleges of the Commonwealth and ascertain which two or more colleges may be eliminated without serious injury to the educational needs of the Commonwealth and make report thereof to the General Assembly not later than the first day of February one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five.

RECONSIDERATION OF HOUSE BILL No. 515

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 515, Printer's No. 186, entitled

An Act to amend section one as amended and section two of the act approved the ninth day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (Pamphlet Laws one hundred ninety-eight) entitled "An act prohibiting the furnishing by gift sale or otherwise of cigarettes or cigarette paper to minors requiring minors to divulge where and from whom cigarettes or cigarette paper have been obtained and providing penalties for violation of this act" by reducing the age limit of persons to whom cigarette paper may be furnished was defeated on final passage on Wednesday, March 22, 1933, be reconsidered.

Mr. BECHTEL. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Mason, vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. MASON. I voted "no," Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Bechtel, vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. BECHTEL. I voted "no," Mr. Speaker.

On the question,

The SPEAKER declared the "ayes" appeared to have it.

Whereupon, a division was called for and eighty-seven members having voted in the affirmative and twenty-six members having voted in the negative, the motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed upon the postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

MOTION TO DISCHARGE COMMITTEE

Mrs. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that the Committee on Labor be discharged from further consideration of House Bill No. 53, Printer's No. 52, entitled:

An Act relating to labor; declaring the policy of the Commonwealth as to the hours of, and prohibiting the employment of persons for more than six hours in any one day, or for more than thirty hours in any one week; providing for overtime employment; and attaching penalties thereto; and providing penalties for violations thereof.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mrs. WILSON. Mr. Speaker and men and women of the House, this bill was introduced ———

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I raise a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Delaware will state his question of parlimentary inquiry.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I understand that a motion was offered by the lady from Berks, Mrs. Wilson, to discharge a committee; is that right?

The SPEAKER. That is correct.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, is it a resolution or a motion?

The SPEAKER. A motion.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, doesn't it follow that it should lie over for printing?

The SPEAKER. No, it does not.

Rule 84 is laid before the House. "All resolutions after they have been twice read shall be printed and lie over for one day, after which they may be called up under their appropriate order of business. This rule shall not apply to the following resolutions, viz: Recalling bills from the Governor. Recalling bills from one House to the other. Those emanating from the Committee on Rules. Those relating to adjournment. Those discharging committees. Those placing negative bills upon the calendar." Does that answer the parliamentary inquiry of the gentleman from Delaware?

Mr. TURNER. Yes, it does, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The lady from Berks will proceed.

Mrs. WILSON. Mr. Speaker and men and women of the House, this bill was introduced the first week of the session, January 4th, and was referred to the Committee on Labor January 9th. Shortly after that date a committee meeting was held, and I was told that the bill had been referred to a sub-committee for further consideration. To date no report has been made on this bill.

This bill is a very important relief measure. The American Federation of Labor has gone on record in support of a measure of this kind. More than two months have gone by and we are nearing the end of the session, and it is important that this measure be brought before this body for a vote.

Many men and women have asked for the passage of this legislation, and in support of this statement I offer a petition signed by more than one thousand three hundred seventy-five men and women of the City of Philadelphia. I present it to this body and ask that the title of the petition be read.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I raise question of parliamentary inquiry.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. BOYD. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Mines and Mining for the purpose of further study.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. YOURISHIN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I cannot understand why this bill should be referred back for further study to the Committee on Mines and Mining.

The bill or the title of the bill is very plain, and I think everybody understands it, and I am not in favor of sending this bill back to the Committe on Mines and Mining for further study. I think that every one can get the gist of the bill right in the title.

I ask the members to vote the motion down.

Mr. HEWITT. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, as a member of the Committee on Mines and Mining, I with many others agreed to let this bill come on the floor for second reading after having asked the sponsor of the bill a question with reference to it. I was misinformed—not intentionally, although I was misinformed.

Therefore I ask the members of this House to return this bill to our Committee for further study.

Mr. YOURISHIN. Mr. Speaker, I did not understand that there was any such arrangement in the Committee on Mines and Mining about this bill coming out for two readings, and if the gentleman who just spoke means that I possibly misinformed him about some parts of this bill I am sorry I did.

The bill does not mean much, and I withdraw my objections and agree that it be sent back to the Committee on Mines and Mining for further study.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The motion was agreed to.

NAYS—0

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House preceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 92, entitled:

An Act permitting fishing on Sunday with one rod and two hooks and fixing penalties.

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pas finally?

Mr. SHORTZ. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I rise to oppose this measure on the conservation standpoint. Without discussing the bill, I wish to quote to you from letters which I have, and I read a letter dated Wilkes-Barre, Pa., March 24, 1933, addressed to myself and signed by H. S. Smith, President of the United Sportsmen of Pennsylvania and Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs of Pennsylvania:

"Replying to your inquiry regarding House Bill No. 92, I wish to state that the United Sportsmen of Pennsylvania oppose this bill, not from any moral point of view, but as a conservation measure.

"This bill was also considered by the meeting of the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Pennsylvania held at Harrisburg February 14th of this year and was disapproved.

"I have just been in communication with Mr. P. G. Platt, President of the Pennsylvania Division of the Izaak Walton League, and he states that the league also opposes this bill for the same reason we do.

"Hoping that you may convince the Legislature that this bill would be very detrimental to the best interests of the Sportsmen of the State, I am

"Sincerely yours,

"(signed) H. S. SMITH."

I ask the members to vote down this measure.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I had not intended to speak on this measure, but in view of the opposition, I think I should present to the House a letter from the Secretary of the Wild Life League of Pennsylvania addressed to the Commissioner of Fisheries, the Honorable O. F. Deibler, with reference to a letter received by him, which reads as follows:

"My Dear Friend:

"In regard to House Bill No. 92 to permit Sunday fishing I am sorry I cannot go along with you to have this bill referred to the Committee on Fisheries.

"At a meeting held in Pittsburgh two years ago by the Sportsmen's Associations of Western Pennsylvania a motion was carried to permit Sunday fishing.

"The only argument the Fish Commission put up then was that they were not able to keep the streams stocked for six days fishing.

"Sunday fishing would increase the license fund far beyond any damage the Sunday Fishing will do.

"New York State and Ohio have Sunday fishing.

"I did not get your notice until March 24th but with that short time am sending in a petition with hundreds of names on it in favor of Sunday fishing and with a little time I could have thousands of men and women who would be glad to have the privilege of going fishing on Sunday.

"Lets have a new deal in Pennsylvania and give the forgotten man a chance to have a little pleasure by getting out on the streams and lakes with his family. He won't do any damage to the fishing."

I have here a petition containing several hundred signatures which I would like to present at this time to the House asking for Sunday fishing.

I would like to say also I have had letters from the Izaak Walton League of Berks County and also the Berks County Rod and Gun Club, asking me to support this bill and asking me to suggest anything they can do to put it over. The fishermen of Berks County and other parts of the State of Pennsylvania are in accord on this measure, and I see no reason why we cannot pass it. This House has already agreed to Sunday baseball, which in my mind is altogether proper, and for which I voted, and certainly there can be no religious opposition to sitting on the bank of a stream on Sunday and fishing. The man is out there quietly sitting on the bank, not that he wants to catch any fish, he wants to get out in the country and enjoy nature. I can see no reason why we should not have it. Our neighboring states already have it, you can go into Delaware and fish, and into New Jersey waters of the Delaware, where they have a law on Sunday fishing, but you cannot tell where the line is. If you go over the Maryland Line you can fish on Sunday; if you go over the Ohio Line you can fish on Sunday, and that has not depleted their streams up to the present time.

Mr. SHORTZ. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, at the outset of my remarks I stated emphatically that I opposed this measure from a conservation standpoint. I am not opposing the measure from a moral standpoint whatever. The conservation feature is more than enough to overcome the moral standpoint in the minds of the members of the House. There is plenty of time now in the days of the week to fish. If everybody was working and had no time to fish on week days, there might be some argument for it. We have specified a time to fish on week days. I am not considering the moral phase, but I don't like someone else bringing out that I am considering that, and therefore I want to state that I am considering conservation and not the moral standpoint.

Mr. DAVID R. PERRY. In accordance with the remarks of my friend who has just spoken I would like to present a petition signed by more than eleven hundred sportsmen and fishermen of Blair County who are unanimously in opposition to this bill. I ask permission from the members of this House to quote from a letter, a letter which perhaps carries the criticism of the fishermen of this State. I quote that letter from the Altoona Rod and Gun Club:

"At a meeting of the Allied Sportsmen's Assoication of Pennsylvania held in Harrisburg on February 14th, the Altoona Rod and Gun Club and the Blair County Game Fish and Forestry Association were concurrent in their sentiment against a Sunday fishing bill, which was in the Committee on Law and Order. Our organizations are opposed to this bill for many reasons, but the main stimulus back of our efforts is that of the conservation of the few fish remaining in our streams, not only would this supply another day for the hordes of fishermen to deplete our supply, but also would render our streams pregnable to the "Waltons" of our surrounding states. It is quite obvious that such an extra day would exterminate our fish.

"This bill will be upon the third reading calendar Monday, March 27th. So, it is the desire of our association that you vote against this bill, and if at all possible speak against it, and give our perspective upon the matter which we deem logical in the eyes of sportsmen, and it is they who will be the recipients of any unfavorable results accruing therefrom.

"Thanking you for the consideration we know you will give our proposals, we remain,

"Yours very truly,
(signed) W. L. WHITE, Secy."

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, inasmuch as this is a bill apparently for the fishermen, I believe the fishermen through their organizations should be represented, and I speak in opposition to the bill.

Mr. SARIG. Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentlemen of the House, this Sunday fishing bill has been here for about fourteen years, and came out of Berks County every session since that time, the Democratic members, the Republican members and the Socialist members have brought this bill before the Legislature. I know that many of the members of this House and from other sections of the State do not understand the psychology or the methods of reasoning of the people residing in my county, where the sentiment is strong for Sunday fishing. In my county the feeling runs something like this; they say the rich man goes to his country clubs and spends his Sundays there with wine, women and song, and all the glories that go with it. Then they again say, "You go out along one of the streams of Berks County on Sunday, and there you find the swimming holes on the Tulpehocken, and there you find hundreds of men, women and children enjoying a bath on Sunday." Their bathrobes are just about as modest as their conduct towards each other. Splashing around in the water there they have a great time, and you can hear them half a mile away upstream and downstream. A State policeman or a local cop comes along and if he is not too old he looks on the scene and he enjoys the scenery, and he enjoys nature in all its glory; he laughs and he smiles and he enjoys the scene that is before him. He walks upstream after taking in all of the scenery, and walks a mile or half mile up the stream and there sits a workingman, a good honest citizen, a man who belongs to what I call the bone and sinew of Pennsylvania's citizenship, a man who has probably worked six days a week, and of course, I realize the argument of the gentleman from Luzerne when he says at the present time they have enough time during the week to fish, I agree with him on that, but ladies and gentlemen of the House, we are not legislating merely for this depression. In ordinary times that working man cannot be off during the week, if he takes off in spite of his boss and in spite of the industrial plant where he works, he will be discharged. He goes to the stream on Sunday and probably carries a sandwich in his pocket, and he carries his rod and line, and puts his rod and line in the water and eats his sandwich, and after eating the sandwich he lights his pipe. He sits there quietly, possibly enjoying his Sunday recreation. Of course, he cannot belong to one of these country clubs where wine, women and song are the order of the day. He sits quietly by the stream waiting for a bite, smoking his pipe and watching for a nibble. What happens?

The SPEAKER. Is the gentleman from Berks talking on the bill?

Mr. SARIG. Yes, he is talking on the bill.

And all of a sudden a State Policeman or some other man of authority comes along and pats him on the shoulder and says, "You are violating the laws of the Commonwealth"—that is the fellow that enjoyed the scenery a few minutes before—"and I must take you before some alderman or some justice of the peace," and if he is not able to pay, he is sentenced to a fine, and if the fine is not paid, imprisonment is the only alternative. Our people have a feeling that it is not right.

Our people in Berks County have a feeling that the little fellow, the working man, the man who provides the bone and sinew of our citizenship and our civilization should have a chance. Of course, the argument is put up that it depletes the stream. I am going to ask you this question; are we maintaining fish and game in this Commonwealth only for the select group, that select group that can afford a two weeks' hunting trip to a game preserve, or a two weeks' fishing trip out in the far parts of the State where it costs from one hundred dollars to two hundred dollars, or are you going to preserve the fish and game in the Commonwealth for the citizens who cannot afford the luxuries of going to a game preserve or fishing trips in the distant streams.

I believe the streams of Pennsylvania should belong to the poor fellow, the ordinary fellow, as well as to the fellow who has money enough to make an organized sport out of it. I know that the game laws and the fish laws of Pennsylvania have for years been dictated by select groups, the organized sportsmen of Pennsylvania, and they are the men who have the money and who have the leisure and who have the mind to make a business out of organized sport, and I ask you, is it fair to use the natural resources and to use the streams of Pennsylvania only for the sake of one elected group, or a selected group, if you prefer it, and have the leisure and the money and the time to enjoy the streams? I say, give the little fellow a break and vote for this bill.

Mr. LONG. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman who has just spoken.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Sarig, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SARIG. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LONG. Will you kindly give the name of the club where they have the "wine, women and song?"

Mr. SARIG. Mr. Speaker, I am finding no fault at all.

Mr. JOHN L. HOLMES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am not going to speak on the moral side of this question, although you all know how I feel about that, but I do want to say we are just about to legislate for the sportsmen of Pennsylvania, and they are looking to this House tonight not to make a serious mistake. They want legislation in the interest of the working man, whom the gentleman from Berks speaks of. So far as the rich man and the laboring man are concerned, the rich man is able to care for himself by purchasing a tract of land through which a stream may flow and to propogate and conserve the fish there irrespective of what happens with the outside world. It is not so with the laboring man. If they wish to look to the future, they must plan to conserve the fish, but I am thinking only of the poor fellow and the poor fisherman. We must see the day coming when every poor man can go out six days a week and get his limit of all kinds and sorts of fish, but that can only be brought about by the strictest conservation of our fish at the present time. I wish to add to what has been said before, that last Friday there met in Centre County a conservation association with representative persons from every sportsmen's club in Centre County. This question was taken up and it was fully discussed and it was voted on there on the floor of the House, and the Commissioner of Fisheries from Harrisburg was present, and when that vote was taken, of the representatives of all the sportsmen's clubs of Centre County, the vote was two in favor of the bill and one hundred and fifty against the bill. That is the sentiment in Centre County, and the sentiment in the rural counties of Pennsylvania, and after all, that is where you must go to fish; those are the people who control the streams, and let us not drag down the morale of the people if you wish to enjoy fishing in the future as you do at the present time.

Mr. EDERER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I rise in defense of this bill, and to answer, if I can, the argument brought up by the gentleman from Centre, Mr. Holmes, and the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Shortz, relative to the conservation feature. I am very fond of trout fishing and do a lot of it too. When I want good fishing I go to New Jersey where Sunday fishing is permitted. I hope you will vote for this bill.

Mr. SARIG. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Centre, Mr. Holmes.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Centre, Mr Holmes, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HOLMES. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SARIG. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask, is it the thought of the gentleman from Centre that the streams of Pennsylvania belong exclusively to the rich organized sportsmen of Pennsylvania?

Mr. HOLMES. Not at the present time; it is not necessary for them to buy up the streams.

Mr. SARIG. In view of the statement just made, does the gentleman from Centre, Mr. Holmes, believe then if the streams do not belong to the organized sportsmen of Pennsylvania, that his argument in regard to the vote by organized sportsmen should hold good in this case?

Mr. HOLMES. I don't quite get the question.

Mr. SARIG. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Centre, Mr. Holmes, has stated the vote of the organized sportsmen of Pennsylvania. In view of the fact that the gentleman from Centre has the idea that the streams do not belong exclusively to the organized sportsmen of Pennsylvania, would the gentleman believe that this House should be guided by the opinion of the organized sportsmen of Pennsylvania?

Mr. HOLMES. Mr. Speaker, I can only speak for my own county. Many of the men present at that meeting own land and I heard many of them say if you are going to have Sunday fishing, there is only one thing for them to do and that is to close their streams.

Mr. HEWITT. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me that this bill is taking in too much territory. The gentlemen from Berks say the bill has been up here for fourteen years from Berks County. As I have said I believe the bill takes in too much territory when it takes in all the other counties. A bill for Sunday fishing in Berks County might have been more satisfactory but our people are against this bill and I hope the members will vote it down.

Mr. WESTRICK. Mr. Speaker, I rise to state a few facts taken from the records of Cambria County that will show the proportion of sportsmen, and by that I mean those people who buy licenses and yet they do not by any means belong to organized sportsmen's associations.

These figures were taken from the record at the county seat on Monday. The number of fishing licenses issued in Cambria County was five thousand eight hundred and eighty-six and the number of hunters licenses was fifteen thousand three hundred and seventy-five. On investigation we find that we have a sportsmen's membership in the sportsmen's organization of not quite five thousand. When you compare these figures you then find that practically all these fellows buy fishing licenses who buy hunting licenses so that you will see that you don't have one-third of the sportsmen.

I deny that any sportsmen's club or organization of sportsmen has been unanimous in their stand against Sunday fishing, and therefore we have got to consider that some of these fishermen are for it. Even though the majority of them might decide against it, even then there are some that are for it.

How about the small business man who in these days must be at his place of business if he is going to make good, where he is working to meet or make up the one percent. property tax? He must be at his place of business every day in the week; why not let him go fishing on Sunday, I mean the small fellow who can't afford to hire help, but who must look after his business himself during the week. A number of people have said to me, "For God's sake, why don't you do something, give us a chance to have a little sport too?" Is it fair to deny the people this opportunity? I believe after all they are going to be high grade fishermen, those that go fishing on Sunday. I don't think that they would be the riff-raff of our population. Let us have your support for this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows,

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a verification of the roll.

Mr. WESTRICK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Wyoming, Mr. Terry, to explain the purpose of this bill.

Mr. TERRY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this measure is a very simple measure. It signifies nothing beyond the fact that it is the desire of the taxpayers of my county to return to the local unit form of caring for the poor. We are now on the county unit system, and we desire to return to the old poor board system.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HOWARD. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have the gentleman, the sponsor of this bill, explain it.

The SPEAKER. Will the sponsor of the bill, the gentleman from Clinton, Mr. Lose, explain the provisions of the bill?

Mr. LOSE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in the regular session of 1931, a bill was passed requiring school boards to give teachers that they were going to dismiss sixty days notice of this dismissal. While this bill was evidently drawn with good intentions, it has made a great deal of trouble and has been of little good to anybody. Shortly after this bill became a law the school department ruled, and properly, I think, that a teacher whose salary was to be reduced was also to have a sixty days notice of its reduction. As a result of this, school boards all over this State, because they were unable to definitely decide upon salaries of teachers prior to the sixty days notice, these school boards have had a flat dismissal of teachers just prior to this time, and then they hire the teachers over at their leisure. The result has been the practical defeat of the continuing contract. Of course, it is a serious thing to the teachers. This law, as I have said, has been of no great value to anybody, but has been a very troublesome bill to school boards, and is just now when school boards cannot definitely fix the salaries for teachers; it is particularly troublesome at this time. This bill reduces the notice from sixty days to forty-five days. It was originally from sixty days to thirty days, but Dr. Rule believed that forty-five days was a better period, and it was changed from sixty to forty-five days.

On the question recurring.

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time House Bill No. 515, Printer's No. 281.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. Tahl.

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 515, entitled:

An Act to amend section one as amended and section two of the act approved the ninth day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (Pamphlet Laws one hundred ninety-eight) entitled "An act prohibiting the furnishing by gift sale or otherwise of cigarettes or cigarette paper to minors requiring minors to divulge where and from whom cigarettes or cigarette paper have been obtained and providing penalties for violation of this act" by reducing the age limit of persons to whom cigarettes or cigarette paper may be furnished

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HERMANSEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, with reference to the bill that is before the House, I wish to say that I think it is a good bill because it regulates the sale of cigarettes, which was not regulated under the former bill that we had because previously it stated that cigarettes should not be sold to minors, meaning by that anyone under twenty-one years of age was not eligible to buy cigarettes. With this bill as it was introduced this evening it prohibits any business man or anyone dealing in cigarettes to sell cigarettes to anyone under the age of eighteen and I think that is about as far as the law can be made effective. I think it is a good bill and should be supported.

Mr. WASSERMAN. Mr. Speaker, the bill I have before me provides a limit of sixteen years, and I understand that this bill has been amended to provide for eighteen years of age. I would like to have the sponsor of the bill explain that.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, this bill originally provided for sixteen years, prohibiting the sale of cigarettes to minors under sixteen years, but at the request of a number of members it has been amended to eighteen, so that the bill as it stands now would read under the age of sixteen.

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Wasserman, if the copy of the bill he has before him, Printer's No. 186, carries the provision of sixteen years and does not carry the prohibition under eighteen years.

Mr .WASSERMAN. Mr. Speaker, it does carry sixteen years and does not carry eighteen years.

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to inform the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tahl, that the Printer's No. is in error. It must be correct before we can vote on the bill. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tahl, inform us of the latest Printer's number, because we cannot act upon the bill unless it is properly before us.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, the number is 186.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tahl, is in error.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I move that action on this bill be deferred for the present, to give the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tahl, an opportunity to get the right number.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, I find that the correct Printer's No. of this bill is 281.

Whereas, Thousands of Jews have lived in Germany for centuries as peaceful and law-abiding citizens, contributing towards every phase of the cultural, social, economic and political life of the country; and

Whereas, The dominant National Socialist Party is engaged in a vicious program of anti-Semitic propaganda, in utter disregard of these loyal services of the Jewish people to the welfare of the country; and

Whereas, Under the inspiration of this insidious propaganda, and with the connivance of the present Nazi government of Germany, numerous assaults have been committed upon the Jews in Germany, medieval tortures inflicted upon law-abiding citizens, and acts of wanton cruelty and savagery against innocent and helpless Jews, in violation of all principles of humanity; and

Whereas, The various governmental authorities in Germany have deprived numerous Jews of their offices as judges, lawyers, physicians, professors, have removed all protection of Jewish life and property, and are violating the civil and political rights of the Jewish people as a whole;

New Therefore Be It Resolved, That we, the Jewish community of Western Pennsylvania united under the auspices of the American Jewish Congress, and heartened by the sympathetic co-operation of our fellow-Americans, in public meeting assembled at the Carnegie Music Hall, Pittsburgh, Monday evening, March 27th, 1933, utter our solemn and unqualified protest against these savage outrages and violations of human rights and civil prerogatives; and

Be It Further Resolved, That we petition the Government of the United States to use its good offices with the Government of Germany to the end that an immediate halt be called to these outrages and violations, and that the rights of the Jewish people, in common with their fellow-citizens, be duly recognized and respected; and

PRESENTATION TO LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR EDWARD C. SHANNON

Mr. PRINCE. Mr. President, the slaves of tobacco in the Senate, who include practically the entire membership, having long observed the addiction of the Lieutenant-Governor, our presiding officer, to this amiable failing, urge his acceptance of this choice cabinet containing an expensive product of Lancaster County manufacture.

These exquisite Havanas, General Shannon, surpass in aroma the fragrance of the far-famed Red Rose of your own bailiwick, and possess the tranquilizing and sedative properties of Oriental hashish.

They express, in a very mild degree, our appreciation and gratitude for your merciful application of the Senate rule on smoking.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR SHANNON. Again I say, my comrades of the Senate, it is most embarrassing, although I appreciate the spirit in which this box of cigars is presented. It is just another evidence of your most gracious kindness to me, and I assure you I appreciate it highly.

Yesterday I completed one of the busiest days in my career, and one of the most colorful. I was not late in reporting to the Senate this morning by reason of any affairs of my own, but because I was on official business.

I assure you I appreciate very much all you have done for me; and I shall continue, as I have done in the past, to serve you to the best of my ability.

BILLS RECOMMITTED

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 585 (House Bill No. 852) on third reading, entitled:

An Act validating sheriff's sales of real estate on judgments of foreclosure in scire facias sur mortgage cases when the release of the mortgagor from liability was not filed with the praecipe.

be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I would like to call the attention of the members of the Senate to the fact that this bill does not do what it purports to do, namely, to make valid a valid title which may have been defective, but that it makes valid an invalid title, and, therefore, I think the Senate should recommit the bill because it would be a bad law.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Mr. PARKINSON. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 630 on third reading, entitled:

An Act declaring milk to be a public utility, creating a Milk Commission with powers to regulate the price, terms and conditions upon which milk may be sold, and providing penalties for violations thereof.

be recommitted to the Committee on Agriculture.

Mr. CLARK. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 787 (House Bill No. 1590), entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the State Emergency Relief Board for direct relief and work relief

And said bill having been read at length the third time.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. REED. Mr. President and members of the Senate, a great deal of criticism has been made of the Legislature of Pennsylvania because of its delay in making appropriation for unemployment relief, but in my opinion there has been no criticism of the action of the Senate on account of the speed with which this bill has come before the Senate. I believe it was passed by the House of Representatives last Thursday and yesterday morning when I first secured the calendar I found this bill on second reading. I immediately attempted to prepare an amendment and went to the Legislative Reference Bureau, but before the amendments could be prepared the bill had passed second reading. I listened to the Senator from Centre, Mr. Scott, and accepted his suggestion that this bill be not delayed, on account of its urgency.

It was my desire to amend this bill for three reasons:

First, because in my opinion, $2,000,000.00 is not enough. There are considerably over one million unemployed in Pennsylvania today. We therefore should appropriate more money covering April and May. It may be that the reforms forced by a Democratic administration at Washington, including 3.2 beer will shortly lessen unemployment, but the spectre of hungry men, women, and children which we observe today calls for more humanity on the part of this Legislature than is apparent in a $2,000,000.00 appropriation. My amendment makes it $4,000,000.00. It will be argued that we do not have the money, but I deny that assertion. The Governor of Pennsylvania has kingly powers. Through his privately owned Executive Board he can force economies in administration and procure the money. Of course he does not want to do this, as his favorite pastime is to lambast the Legislature, and then to create useless jobs and activities to enhance his political power.

My second reason for desiring to amend the bill is that as the bill now stands there is a question as to its constitutionality. Under the pending bill, the money is to be distributed according to the provisions of the second Talbot Act; that is through the State Emergency Relief Board. I do not imply any criticism of the distinguished gentlemen serving on that Board, but the Governor has so much control, that the operations of that Board have been most unfortunate. I concede that the State Emergency Relief Board is a proper agency to distribute funds coming from the Federal Government, but equally I contend that it is not the proper agency to distribute funds secured from the tax payers of Pennsylvania. To emphasize my point, let me call attention to the history of unemployment relief legislation since the regular session of 1931.

During the special session of 1931, I was one of the group who promoted the first Talbot bill in the House of Representatives. The Attorney General of Pennsylvania declared that bill to be unconstitutional, and despite my profound respect for the legal acumen of Attorney General Schnader, I risked what little professional reputation I may possess to publicly hazard the guess on the floor of the House of Representatives that the first Talbot Bill was not only constitutional, but that it was the only method by which money could be legally appropriated to the unemployed. Attorney General Schnader, as you will recall, was positive in his statement that the first Talbot Bill was a violation of the Constitution, but the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania kept that bill on the statute books of Pennsylvania, and Governor Pinchot and Attorney General Schnader had to submit. My amendment therefor would cause this money to be distributed through the Poor Boards of Pennsylvania in accordance with the provisions of the first Talbot Act, a method which the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania has said violates no provision of the Constitution. The second Talbot Bill has never been tested in the courts. It is my opinion that it is unconstitutional. The first Talbot Bill was held constitutional on all counts, especially as a poor law. In my opinion, the second Talbot Bill is unconstitutional because it is not a poor law and violates Article 3, Section 18, of the Constitution, prohibiting appropriations for charitable purposes.

My third reason for desiring to amend is that distribution under the first Talbot Bill was economical and was satisfactory to the unemployed. It was not many weeks ago that the army of the unemployed moved on Harrisburg and told us in no unmistakable terms what they thought of the second Talbot Bill. Furthermore, in my opinion, administration under the Governor's plan is extravagant and wasteful. I could produce a vast amount of evidence, but I will content myself with referring to an article which appeared in the Philadelphia Inquirer of Sunday, March 5, containing the text of the letter written by E. Arthur Sweeny to Governor Pinchot. I now ask that that article be incorporated in, and made a part of my remarks and be printed in full in the record.

HITS PINCHOT REGIME FOR EXTRAVAGANCE IN USING RELIEF FUNDS

FORMER PRESIDENT OF PENNSYLVANIA PUBLISHING ASSOCIATION RESIGNS TO GOVERNOR AND MAKES SENSATIONAL CHARGES ALLEGING GREAT WASTE OF MONEY IN SALARIES

Special to The Inquirer

HARRISBURG, March 4.—A scathing arraignment of the State Administration's conduct for emergency relief with specific charges of extravagance of its outstanding features, including its $10,000 a year directing head, his $8,000 a year assistant, a $5000 a year publicity director, and a corps of other high salaried employees are contained in a letter to Governor Gifford Pinchot by E. Arthur Sweeny, a former president of the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers Association.

Mr. Sweeny, who is president of the Greensburg Tribune-Review Publishing Company, which controls both the Greensburg Review and the Daily Tribune, voices his emphatic disapproval of the enormous sums of money of State relief funds being spent for salaries and other expenses, including "the cost of red tape social investigators."

He gave an interesting recital of his personal knowledge of these conditions with a formal resignation as a member of the Westmoreland County Emergency Relief Board.

Mr. Sweeny's letter to Governor Pinchot reads:

"Hon. Gifford Pinchot, Chairman, State Emergency Relief Board, Harrisburg Pa.

"My dear Governor:

"I herewith submit my resignation as a member of the Westmoreland County Emergency Relief Board.

"I am constrained to this action because I cannot bring myself to agree with a policy of further overhead expense in the administration of relief.

"Action taken by a majority of the members of the Westmoreland County Emergency Relief Board, Monday, January 20, authorizes the employment of an executive director for this county, at a salary of $200 a month. A further increase in this paid organization, including an auditor and controller and investigators in the near future seems to be a foregone conclusion. This, I understand, is in keeping with the policy of the State Board and urged by its executive director and his assistants.

Rebukes Social Workers

"Notwithstanding the earnest pleas of representatives of the State organization, as well as roving social workers, sent to appear before the Westmoreland county board, I have been unable to see the wisdom of using a large sum of relief money for administrative purposes.

"I am quite familiar with the arguments fo ra paid organization, with executive directors, auditors and controllers and investigators for each of the counties. I have also taken into consideration that these pleas are brought to the counties by field representatives, inspired by the highly paid State organization, whose directing head receives a salary of $10,000 per annum, and his assistant, $8000, with graduated salaries for others in the department.

"Other leading positions in this department show a chief clerk, $3600; director of supervisory field work, $3000; asistant to director of supervisory field work, $2400; puchasing agent, $3960; assistant purchasing agent, $2000; nutritionist, $4800; publicity director, $5000, and five field representatives at $2400 each. Of course a heavy overhead for typists and clerks in the department comes on top of this for the State headquarters where there are at least 22 clerical employees.

Allegheny County Scandal

"Heavy as those expenditures are, they are indeed modest when compared with the cost of such an organization as it is set up in Allegheny county under this system. In the department, there, we find 194 clerks, 127 typists, 391 investigators, 37 interviewers, 40 supervisors and five assistant supervisors, making a total of 794 employees. The estimated monthly payroll in that county is $60,000 with approximately $12,000 a month for transportation, supplies, postage, telephone, etc. There we have in one county alone, based on present costs, an expenditure of $864,000 per annum!

"At this rate of going, how many millions is it likely to take to administer relief in Pennsylvania for the next year, and I am told that the State Department is talking of a five-year plan? It seems to me that the State is on the brink of being engulfed in a social workers' complex.

"It has been said frequently within recent months that the present crisis is a great, or even greater, that that during the war.

In those years much was heard of the dollar a year man and the work he did is now one of the proud pages in the history of this country. The need of dollar a year men today is even greater than it was during wartime. I firmly believe that if a call, free from all suspicion of politics, were to be made by those in authority, that services of these men would be forthcoming. Such executive direction would insure the maximum in experience and ability by people familiar with the expenditure of large sums of money and the handling of large numbers of people, together with expert knowledge on matters of organization. Such leadership would bring back to every community a full appreciation of its share of responsibility.

Cold Standardizing System

"Today such responsibility is being shirked and the business man having a relief problem brought to his attention in his own immediate neighborhood quickly shoves it into the cold standardized system of State relief, perhaps forgetting that after all, he is the one who will have to pay the bill eventually.

"With the big organization already set up in Harrisburg, the many paid county organizations now being urged, it would seem that the Department of Relief in Pennsylvania, may, before the year 1933 expires, outrank many other State departments in number of employees. Dollars will thus be diverted from direct relief for payroll requirements.

"There is an inherant danger in such an organization, in addition to the diversion of large sums for salaries. The future of the jobe thus created will of necessity depend upon the continuance of relief in a big way. With such a newly created department of salaried people bend their efforts toward wiping out relief or will the tendency be to organize it for a long engagement?

"I feel confident that a proper appeal to the patriotic men and women of ability in Pennsylvania would bring sufficient volunteer help to administer the necessary relief in a proper way.

"In tendering my resignation, I desire to say that I will continue to give my own services on several charity boards with which I am now active and whose few employees are paid by private subscriptions and not out of public relief funds.

"I feel, however, my views differ so widely from the plan being urged at the present time that I would be out of tune with the general policy to such an extent that my services would be of little use on the county board and possibly a hindrance."

On February 7, last, I introduced Senate Bill No. 330, providing for a $30,000,000 appropriation for unemployment relief along the lines of the first Talbot Act, and on the same day the same Bill, House Bill No. 817 was introduced by my colleague from Dauphin County, Representative Habbyshaw. These bills have since rested in the Appropriations Committee of the Senate and of the House, and are sleeping the sleep that knows no awaking. I merely mention this fact because there has been much criticism from the Governor and others, that the Legislature has delayed in the matter of unemployment relief. I call attention to the fact that Dauphin County went to the bat on February 7.

I am conscious that one Senator can block my amendments. I will ask for unanimous consent, and I shall make no motion. Having made my plea on behalf of the unemployed in Dauphin County, I now ask unanimous consent to offer the following amendments:

Amend section 1, page 1, line 4, by striking out the word "two" and insert in lieu thereof, "four." Amend section 1, page 1, line 4, by striking out the figures "($2,000,000)" and insert in lieu thereof "($4,000,000)." Amend section 1, page 1, line 7, by striking out the words "State Emergency Relief Board" and insert in lieu thereof "Department of Welfare." Amend section 1, page 1, line 9, by striking out the words "and be expended." Amend section 1, page 1, line 10, by striking out the word "Board" and insert in lieu thereof "Department of Welware." Amend section 1, page. 1, line 10, by striking out the word "direct" and insert in lieu thereof "unemployment." Amend section 1, page 1, line 10, by striking out the words "and work relief." Amend section 1, page 1, line 11, by striking out the words "the act approved the nine-" Amend section 1, page 1, lines 12 to 16, by striking out all of said lines, both inclusive. Amend section 1, page 2, lines 1 and 2, by striking out all of said lines, and insert in lieu thereof "Act No. 7-E of the twenty-eighth of December, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (P. L. 1503), entitled "An act making an appropriation under the police power and as a governmental duty to the Department of Welfare for State aid to political subdivisions charged by law with the care of the poor, and providing for the allocation and use of the moneys so appropriated"

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, I object.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair hears objection.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, objection has been made, as I expected it would be, and I submit because I hope to remain a Republican Organization Senator. Only last night I expected to vote against the Bill in an unamended form, because the bill to me is very objecticnable, but then I recalled Governor Pinchot's statement concerning the first Talbot Bill, and turning to page 1509 of the Pamphlet Laws of 1931, I read:

"My conclusion is that I cannot sign this bill because it is not fit to be signed. But I cannot veto this bill because there is a chance, however remote, that it might be held constitutional, and so give some relief to the unemployed and save the Commonwealth from the disgrace of refusing to help her people. I cannot destroy that chance.

My only course is to follow the recommendation of the Attorney General, and to let the Talbot Bill become law without my signature. That is my decision.

When this bill becomes law, this Administration will favor a prompt decision, because no money can be paid out under it unless and until the Supreme Court affirms its constitutionality. Until it does the opinion of the Attorney General must stand. But the final decision will rest not with him, not with me, but with the Supreme Court."

In harmony with Governor Pinchot's thought, althought believing the present bill to be unconstitutional, I shall vote "aye." I cannot destroy the chance, however, remote, that some small part of this appropriation will ultimately filter to the unemployed of Pennsylvania who so badly need it.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The Senate met at two-thirty o'clock P. M.

The PRESIDENT. This being the time fixed by resolution for holding memorial services on the death of Honorable Augustus F. Daix, Jr., late Senator from the Seventh District, the Senate will be in order and will be opened with prayer by the Chaplain.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. George P. Donehoo, offered the following prayer:

Almighty Father, Thou are the Author of all light and of all life, and we come to Thee today beseeching Thee to bless those who gather here to keep alive the memory of one of the members of this Senate. Grant that we may hallow the memories of those with whom we have known who have passed from this life of activity into another life of far greater activity. Bless those who today mourn the loss of a dear one. Grant that they may have the power and the sympathy and the love of the Father who pities His children. Grant that they may have His sympathetic presence when they think of the dear one who has departed. Abide with us and bless us in this service. We ask in Christ's name. Amen.

Mr. SHAPIRO offered the following resolution, which was twice read:

In the Senate, March 29, 1933.

Whereas, It was the will of Divine Providence to end on May 5, 1932, the distinguished career of Augustus F. Daix, Jr., for twenty years a member of the Senate of Pennsylvania from the Seventh District, and

Whereas, Senator Daix had lived a long, useful business and professional life in Philadelphia, winning the respect, admiration and confidence of his neighbors and friends to an unusual degree, having been honored by them with many positions of responsibility and trust, which were city wide, and

Whereas, During his long service in this body, Senator Daix devoted himself conscientiously and energetically to his duties to the Senate, the Commonwealth and the people of his District, displaying splendid ability and those attributes of leadership which eventually caused his associates to select him as the President Pro Tempore, therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania places itself on record as testifying to the integrity, unimpeachable character, modesty and devotion to duty of the departed Senator and that a copy of these resolutions properly engrossed be sent to the bereaved family.

HARRY SHAPIRO, Chairman.
SAMUEL W. SALUS.
FRANK L. FAY.
WILLIAM D. MANSFIELD.
WARREN R. ROBERTS.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, if you were to turn to the manual published by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, for 1931, you would read on Page 1120 that Augustus F. Daix, Jr., was born in Philadelphia on October 3rd, 1868; practiced law after he was admitted to the Bar in 1893; occupied a seat in the Senate consecutively from 1812 to 1932, serving as its President Pro Tempore in 1931. If the usual custom is followed, the next issues of this manual will make no mention of him because he died on the 5th day of May, 1932.

Neither the brevity of this sketch nor its absence from the subsequent manuals will limit our knowledge of his activities nor erase them from our memory. Words and space rarely describe or measure the man, but the extent and persistence of his influence are the more accurate measure of his greatness.

For over twenyt-five years Senator Daix was in public life. A leader in his community, he was, nevertheless, the servant of his people; their problems were his and his were subordinated to theirs.

On six consecutive occasions his constitutents elected him to this Senate, and just prior to his death he was nominated for a seventh term. His successive reelection to this honored body was more than a mere compliment, it was their evidence of appreciation for his devotion to the interests of his constituents.

Mr. President, you and many of the members of this Senate saw an example of that devotion in the November special session of the General Assembly. Clear in mind, but worn out in body by the ravages of disease, he literally dragged himself to these sessions that he might contribute, what he must have known to be, his last ounce of strength in the interest of his constituents—his City and his State. It was a remarkable exhibition of devotion and courage.

I first met Senator Daix shortly after I entered politics in 1916. At that time I found myself in the faction opposing Senator Daix. Out of that encounter there grew a friendship and an affection that was only interrupted by his death. In the many political problems during the years of our association his judgment was dependable; he never jumped at conclusions. My best heated arguments dissolved into vapor under his cold reason, born of mature and deliberate judgment,. He had a mildness of manner and softness of voice which was deceiving to the uninitiate, for he could be firm and vigorous when necessary. We fought many hard battles together, and though Senator Daix fought hard, the wounds of battle with him were always superficial and treated with "a mild and healing sympathy that stole away their sadness ere the wounded was aware."

Unmoved by mob hysteria and understanding the humbug of false prophets; he stood his ground against disappointed office seekers, sometimes euphoniously called reformers, and remained loyal to friend and principle.

In factional disputes, promises of reward to desert his cause merely served to strengthen his allegience. He always said that there was no compensation for the loss of self respect and that friendship was not for sale.

A follower and friend of the late Senate Penrose, he never left the ranks of his political associates, sharing their fortunes and misfortunes; earning an enviable reputation for loyalty and integrity.

Most of his active life was spent in a district which could not boast of the rarified atmospheres of the wealthy, and so be ever lent a listening ear and extended a generous hand to his constituents. His name was a by word for kindness and charity. As he was to his family, so he was to all with whom he came in contact.

In the halls of this Senate his chief interest was in legislation, looking to the betterment of the condition of his constituent and his fellow-man. His respect for the seat he occupied in this Senate serves to make me ever conscious of the privilege I enjoy in succeeding him and the burden of that responsibility will always be with me. I owe him much for the influence he exerted over me and I am not alone in that obligation. Hundreds who knew and loved him feel with me and make due acknowledgment.

It is not to be wondered at, that his death brought sadness to many homes and countless numbers to his bier. His was a full and an active life. The world is better for his having lived in it, and in leaving it he has left with us an heritage which enables us to truly say, "Oh death, where is thy sting?"

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President and members of the Senate, I did not go to the trouble of preparing any statement as to my feelings and respect for the late Senator Daix. I do not believe it would be necessary for any man to prepare any speech or statement regarding the Senator. I think the greatest compliment that could be paid to him, particularly among his neighbors and friends, would be to say that Gust Daix was Gust Daix, and that would cover a multitude of wonderful accomplishments of the late Senator. He was a man who never sought the limelight. He was a man who avoided as much as posible all publicity. He lived his life in a plan, simple, unostentatious way, and the foundation of that life, I believe, was based on the words, "Love thy neighbor," and he loved his neighbor, and everybody in that district knew that his neighbor loved him.

Many of us in political life have grown to positions of honor, and many of us in the attaining of these positions of honor have been under obligations to some extent to the political organizations with which we were affiliated; and those political organizations were of vast worth and value to us in order that we might succeed in getting into these positions of honor. With Gust Daix it was otherwise. With him it was a case of where the organization needed Gust Daix, Gust Daix's neighbors were for him a hundred per cent., whether the organizations were with him or not. He was truly a representative of the people in the locality where he lived. He looked for no notoriety. He looked for no reward except the satisfaction of knowing that as each day ended he had done a good day's work, and possibly been of some service to some poor unfortunate.

His family life—we would hardly be doing him justice by talking about it, because it was so perfect that there are no words in the English language that can thoroughly express that home life. It was the typically perfect, one hundred per cent. American home life, and the life which every self-respecting citizen might well take as an example.

He was a practicing lawyer, and, in accord with the life that he lived, his practice was mainly in the Orphan's Court, and I do not believe that that practice came to him by any effort on his part. It just came to him because of the fact that his friends and neighbors knew of his kindly disposition toward all mankind; and in the hours of bereavement in the locality where he was known, I am firmly of the opinion, that immediately after the minister left the home of the bereaved family, the next thought was to find Senator Daix. And his whole life as a lawyer was spent taking care of widows and orphans, and in that work it was the work of the heart and not work that had any mercenary thought in it.

Taken all in all he was a credit not only to the community in which he lived, but a credit to the city of Philadelphia and an honor to the State of Pennsylvania. He became the President Pro Tempore of this Senate in one of the most viciously fought contests almost in the history of the State of Pennsylvania. He was elected by a majority, if I recall it correctly, of one vote. The political factions were equally divided, and the balance—the majority came to Gust Daix from men who were politically aligned against Senator Daix, but they could not—could not under any condition, even though they were politically aligned otherwise, vote against this particular Senator because of the fact that they knew him, knew he deserved the honor he sought for more than any other honor; and I know of men who broke political alliances, the result of which cost their subsequent defeat at the polls, for no other reason than to pay Senator Daix that honor which they thought belonged to him, and that he had earned by long and continuous effort on behalf of his fellowmen.

And I know that when he reached the great beyond, on his entrance there must have been said, "Well done, good and faithful servant, well done."

Mr. MANSFIELD. Mr. President and members of the Senate, I want to acknowledge the compliment implied in the invitation given to me to take a part in the Memorial Service to the late Augustus F. Daix, Jr., of Philadelphia. During my ten years of service in this body I have had the privilege and pleasure of making friends and associates none of whom ever made a more indelible impression on my memory than that of the man, the Senator for whom this Memorial Service is being held today.

From my first days as a member of the Senate Senator Daix and I were close friends. I admired him for his honesty, his frankness, his courtesy and his gentlemanly conduct under any and every condition. He served as chairman of the most important committees of this body, and whether he was for or against a Senator's piece of legislation made no difference in his courtesy and gentlemanly conduct. He was frank, and at all times stood by his friends; and his greatest thought was to serve well the people who had sent him here, and he did that.

He was a credit to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, to the City of Philadelphia and to this body; and I am sure that every member of this Senate who came into contact with him during his twenty years of service felt that this Senate and this Commonwealth were better by reason of the life of Augustus F. Daix, Jr.

I, perhaps, had an opportunity to study him from a different angle than that from which any other person in Pennsylvania could study him. That was brought about by reason of the fact that I was his opponent, in the memorable fight for the position of President pro tempore of the Senate; and in spite of the fact that both Senator Daix's friends and mine were at one another's throats during that fight Senator Daix and I kept in close touch with one another, and we went through that battle and ended it, I believe, just as close friends as we had been before it started. That is evidenced by the fact that I took pleasure in seconding the motion to make his election unanimous, and that he very shortly afterward made the public statement that he hoped he would have the pleasure of nominating me for President pro tempore at the next session of the General Assembly.

I am sure we all of us appreciate that noble character, and that we all miss him, as he is missed in Philadelphia. The kindliness and courtesy and gentlemanly conduct that he showed while a member of this body will never be forgotten by those who came in contact with him.

Mr. ROBERTS. Mr. President, this is a sad occasion. I shall say but a few words.

If I had the gift of language to speak in flowery eloquence on the life of the late Senator Augustus F. Daix, Jr., all I might say would be a deserved tribute. But to my mind, this memorial to our esteemed colleague, should be in keeping with the simplicity of his character.

Devoid of pomp and show, his life was exemplified in deeds rather than words. Quiet and unobstrusive, yet ever alert to the duties of his high office, he moved in and out of this Chamber in the even tenor of his way, with malice toward none and charity to all.

Though frail in body, he was strong in intellect. Meek in manner, he was resolute in purpose. To some he may have appeared timid, but his heart was full of human sympathy.

The highest testimonial to his busy and useful life, is the esteem in which he was held by his own home people. For more than twenty years, he was regularly returned to represent them in this, the highest legislative body of our Commonwealth. Their confidence was not misplaced.

Senator Daix was a wise counselor, a shrewd business man and a diligent lawmaker and despite his manifold duties he never failed his clients, his constituents or his associates.

And with it all, he still found time to devote to those whom he loved best,—his family.

God bless his memory, and may I conclude with a few lines that I think most beautifully reveals the life of Senator Daix.

Men are of two kinds and he
Was of the kind I'd like to be.
Some preach their virtues, and a few
Express their lives by what they do.
That sort was he. No flowery phrase
Or gibly spoken words of praise
Won friends for him. He wasn't cheap
Or shallow, but his course ran deep,
And it was pure. You know the kind.
Not many in a life you find
Whose deeds outrun their words so far
That more than what they seem they are.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

MEMORIAL SERVICES ON THE DEATH OF HONORABLE FRED M. SPROUT, LATE SENATOR FROM THE TWENTY-FOURTH DISTRICT

The Senate met at three-thirty o'clock P. M.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (Mr. James S. Boyd) in the Chair.

The PRESIDENT. This being the time fixed by resolution for holding memorial services on the death of Honorable Fred M. Sprout, late Senator from the Twenty-Fourth District, the Senate will be in order and will be opened with prayer by the Chaplain.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. George P. Donehoo, offered the following prayer:

Our Heavenly Father, we thank Thee that in the midst of all the struggles and confusion of life we can pause now and then to think of those who have been with us here but who have departed. Grant that we may, in such Memorial Services, keep before our minds, and in loving remembrance, those whose faces and forms we miss here at these desks today; and as we go on in life may we more and more realize that service and work must be done while it is day, for the night cometh when no man can work.

Be today with those who are in sorrow because of the loss of this our fellow member of the Senate, that their hearts may be comforted by Thy gift of comfort and consolation; and may the sunshine of God's presence illumine the hours of darkness as they come to us in this life, even as God's sunshine illumines the hills and valleys about us today.

We ask these blessings, and every other blessing, upon those for whom we should pray today, in Christ's name. Amen.

Mr. SONES offered the following resolution, which was twice read:

In the Senate, March 29, 1933.

Whereas, On August 8, 1932, Fred M. Sprout, member of the Senate of Pennsylvania from the Twenty-fourth District, was suddenly called from our midst, and

Whereas, During his active business career in Lycoming County, he had gained prominence as a manufacturer, banker and leader in other industrial pursuits and had so won the confidence of the residents of his community that they had honored him with public office before their selection of him for membership in the Senate, and

Whereas, Senator Sprout endeared himself to his associates by his modesty, common sense and sincere effort to promote the best interests of the people of his District, the Senate and the State of Pennsylvania, therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the Senate make proper record of the achievements of Senator Sprout as a member of this body and that in submitting this resolution, duly engrossed, they extend their heartfelt sympathy to his bereaved relatives.

CHARLES W. SONES, Chairman,
LEROY E. CHAPMAN,
HARRY J. BELL,
RICHARD S. QUIGLEY,
HENRY L. SNYDER.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. SONES. Mr. President and members of the Senate, it is sad, indeed, that this body has convened to memorialize the Senator from Lycoming, the late Fred M. Sprout.

He was elected to the Senate in November, 1930, and passed away in August, 1932, representing the Twenty-Fourth Senatorial District less than two years, hardly long enough to become acquainted with his colleagues and members of the House of Representatives. It was my privilege to serve this district for twenty years preceding him, and at the election of 1932, I was elected to complete his term of four years. A strange coincidence, I was his predecessor as well as successor; Senator Sprout was my predecessor as well as my successor; something that has rarely, if ever, occurred in the Senate.

Senator Sprout was born and raised in Muncy, a member of one of the old poineer families of Lycoming County. For a number of years he was the efficient business manager of one of the largest manufacturing concerns in his home town. His wide experience and business ability made him an outstanding figure in both business and civic enterprises. He was always on the lookout for anything that would be of benefit to the people and town over which he assumed leadership. He was a natural born leader owing to his courage and convictions which he carried out.

For a number of years Senator Sprout served as a member of the Board of Trustees of the Danville State Hospital and was made Chairman of the Building Committee of that institution. He was an active member of the Masonic Bodies in the Valley of Williamsport, a member of the Board of Trustees, and through efforts put forth, he was awarded the last and highest honor in Free-Masonery, that of the coveted Thirty-Third degree.

Senator Sprout was esentially a family man, a loyal husband and kind father, possessing fine morale, a consistent member of the Baptist church as his family before him. The Senate has lost a valued member, his home town a good citizen. He was courteaus to all, and with his pleasing manner and personality, made hosts of friends. Faithful to his duties in the Senate, knowing his malady was incurable, yet he stood by his post and was in attendance at all sessions although at times almost physically unable.

Those who honored his passing and were present at the last sad rites, included the Governor of the Commonwealth, others high in authority, members of the Senate, also a number from the House of Representatives, Judges of the Court, business and professional men and people from all walks in life.

Truly, "Death loves a shining mark."

Mr. BELL. Mr. President and members of the Senate: It is eminently fitting and proper that this honorable body should suspend its labors for a short time to pay a tribute of respect to the memory of two of its distinguished members who have passed from the scenes of earth into the realm of that undiscoverd country from whose borders no travelers ever returns.

It is manifestly difficult to estimate the true worth of any man upon so short an acquaintance as Senator Sprout enjoyed with the members of this Senate body. And yet every man possesses some characteristics of personality that stamp themselves indelibly upon the memory of those whom we meet, even casually, that time cannot efface. This is but another way of saying that first impressions are lasting and usually accurate.

Perhaps the characteristic by which Senator Sprout will best be remembered by the members of this Senate who had most contact with him was his modesty and gentleness of manner. No higher compliment can be expressed of one who enjoyed the confidence of the people among whom he lived and who knew him best. Modesty and gentleness are virtues that are rooted deep in Christian training and Christian environment. Such a man is undisturbed by the shifting changes and clutter of daily experience.

Faith and assurance and confidence are always seen in the background of such a character.

That he was a man of integrity and honor is manifest in the trust and confidence reposed in him by those who saw him daily, in entrusting many of their financial and civic affairs to his judgment and guidance. That he was a man of sincerity and truthfulness is known by the fact that he was a loyal and consistent member of the religious body of his choice and a leader in its temporal affairs. That he was a man of probity and worth was demonstrated by a great and honorable fraternal organization, conferring upon him its highest grade on August 8, 1932, as he was preparing to return to his active legislative duties in this chamber the dread messenger summoned him silently, swiftly, suddenly, on a perfect summer afternoon a few days later his mortal remains was followed by sorrowing family and friends to the silent city of the dead in his native city and returned to the earth from which it came. The physical form of Senator Sprout will never again be seen in this chamber, but the influence he has left behind him, the memory of the real man that he was shall continue here even after we who are here today have forever gone from this place.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Warren County, Doctor Chapman, was called home by the death of his father, so that he can not take his part in this memorial service. Therefore the remarks that he would have delivered have been written by him, and will be read by Mr. McKirdy, the Chief Clerk of the Senate.

The address was read as follows:

Mr. President, it has been both an honor and a pleasure to have intimately known Senator Fred M. Sprout, to have received the inspiration of a great man. His venerable experience imparted with youth's courage and strength, overshadows former acquaintances, and trifles former knowings. His seasoned Christian characteristics, his spotless reputation, his pleasing voice and warm handshakes have wrought an indelible impression and influence upon me which will successfully defy the ravages of time.

There was nothing flashy nor spectacular about Senator Sprout, but there was a great dependability of character. He cared much for the most good to the greatest number, rather than for the legal technicalities of the constitutionality, the legality, or the validity of a proposed measure, leaving these questions for the lawyers to argue. He was well acquainted with the demands of the people and public affairs. He feared no antagonist, and had the courage of his convictions. Wearied in the midst with the toils of the Session, he laid down his burdens and fell into a dreamless sleep that knows no earthly awakening. Senator Sprout still lives in the hearts of those he left behind. He is not dead but speaketh: For him to live Christ, to die was endless gain. Senator Sprout visualized life not as the Shakespearean ideal of life "Life is a walking shadow, a poor player, who frets and struts its hour upon the stage, then is seen no more. It is a tale told by an idiot, full of sound and fury signifying nothing." Not the Fate of Life as told by the Agnostic orator "Life is a narrow veil between the cold and barren peaks of two eternities. We stand in vain and look beyond the heights, we cry aloud and the only answer is the echo of our wailing cry." But Senator Sprout believed in the sublime certainty "For he knew that if this earthly house of ours is destroyed, we had a building not made with hands, but built by God, eternal in the heavens."

Not the teachings of a Confucious, a Mohammed, nor a Buddha, but Senator Sprout believed in the teachings of the Christ.

In the death of our colleagues we are reminded of the uncertainty of Life and the certainty of Death and could Senator Sprout have penetrated the misty clouds that enveloped him during the last session, he would have discovered that he was spending the twilight of his earthly existence and death's able curtain was then draping him in her gentle robes.

In the death of Senator Sprout we are fittingly reminded from Grey's Elegy:

The applause of listening senates to command
The threat of pain and ruin to despise
To scatter plenty throughout a smiling land
And read their history in a nation's eyes.

The boast of heraldry, the pomp of power,
And all that beauty, all that wealth e'er gave.
Await alike th' inevitable hour,
The paths of glory lead but to the grave

We live in deeds, not years, in thought, not breaths.
In feelings, not in figures on a dial,
We should count time by heart throbs,
He most lives,
Who thinks most, feels the noblest, acts the best.

I cannot say, and I will not say,
That he is dead.—He is just away!

With a cheery smile, and a wave of the hand,
He has wandered into an unknown land.

And left us dreaming how very fair
It needs must be, since he lingers there.

And you—oh, you, who the wildest yearn
For the old-time step and the glad return—

Think of him faring on, as dear
In the love of There as the love of Here.

Think of him still the same, I say;
He is not dead—he is just away!

There is no death,
The stars go down, to rise upon some fairer shore.

What is death? "I am standing on the seashore. A ship at my side spreads her white sails to the morning breeze and starts for the blue ocean. She is an object of beauty, and I stand and watch her until at length she hangs like a speck of white cloud just where the sun and sky come to mingle together. Then some one at my side says 'There she's gone.' Gone where? Gone from my sight, that is all. She is just as large in mast and hull and spar, as when she left my side and just as able to bear her load of living freight to the place of her destination. Her diminished size is in me, not in her. And just at the moment some one at my side says 'There she's gone' there are other eyes that are watching her coming. And other voices ready to take up the glad shout: 'There she comes.' And that is dying."

In these lines we have a true expression of the real significance of death. It is but a change. It is the metamorphosis of man, the bursting of the chrysalis, the dawn of an eternal life. We all know that when that summons comes for us to take that wonderful journey from which no mortal ever turns back, that in that mysterious somewhere, those who have gone before will welcome us into that beautiful haven where faults are always written in sands, and virtues on tablets of love and memory. "Why fear death? It is the most beautiful adventure in life," Victor Hugo said, "I know my soul is immortal because I believe it is so." We cannot fathom the divinity that creates life, nor can we peep into eternity into which it goes. We are but the leaves on the tree of life that bud, that blossom, during a season, then with the advent of autumn, then the frost and we drop from the parent stem, the body withers and decays and the Soul passes into Eternity.

Christ said: "For whosoever will save his life shall loose it, and whosoever shall lose his life for my sake shall find it."

We all cherish the fond memory of Senator Sprout.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, I appreciate the honor of having been granted a part, however brief it may be, in this memorial program. It has been the task of the committee in charge of these services to make a lasting record of our sincere regard for our colleague who has passed on. On this occasion party lines mean nothing. Differences of opinion disappear. In the midst of our innumerable problems and these tempestuous days it is well that we should pause. We do so for reasons justifiable beyond question. It is both our duty and our privilege to pay tribute to one who stood in the service of this Commonwealth with us. That service has now been terminated by the hand of the Almighty. Until its termination, those of us who were privileged to be associated with the Hon. Fred M. Sprout in the work of the Senate readily came to appreciate his service. There was about him a quiet sincerity which did not escape attention. Ever unassuming, he often withdrew from opportunities which could have brought him much personal advantage. His honesty of purpose can never be questioned. Though new in the Senate, he represented in a striking degree, the old school of those who went about their way quietly without blare of trumpet. With him—it may always truly be said—there was but the guilding purpose to serve his constituency fairly and to the best of his ability. As was always apparent, there was in his heart a deep appreciation of the confidence reposed in him. The responsibilities of the high office to which the electorate of the twenty-fourth Senatorial District had elevated him were cheerfully assumed. In his devotion to duty we find ample proof to warrant the belief that his friends and neighbors at home will ever revere his memory and will long remember the warmth and sincerity of his friendship.

How well it may be said that his life among his people inspired their confidence! Those of us whose associations with him were limited to the sessions of the Legislature can well understand the sources of the support so willingly and graciously given him. In his private business enterprises there was no wavering from the principle of honesty and fair dealing. During the great conflict among the nations there was a ready response. When the need arose for someone to serve as a municipal officer without renumeration our colleague accepted the task. Much of his time and energy were given to the caring for the unfortunate and the institutions protecting them. There was in his life a blending of virtues which, on the one hand, made the unfortunate his charge and, on the other, permitted him to establish a successful business career.

Achievements such as these—or should we rather say—services thus rendered gave Senator Sprout a high position among those who have been devoted to Pennsylvania and her people. We may therefore in his passing—however sorrowful it may be—find lasting satisfaction in the knowledge that the Senate was honored and benefited by his presence and his work. Pausing as we have done to recall the virtues of one whom we could respect and admire there comes the stern realization against that no one is exempt from the termination of the opportunities before us. Human legislation, at its best, is faulty. To us as well as to those who have gone before has been given but the possibility of following the paths of duty as they may be understood. In this hour of commeration our understanding of the problems before us is made clearer: our willingness to be of service is made greater; our tasks are made lighter and our appreciation of the warmth of friendly hand clasps is made deeper. All this has come to pass because in the life of our departed friend we again observed the real value of unheralded devotion to duty.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Ways and Means for further study.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the motion before you is to recommit Bill No. 1681 to the Committee on Ways and Means. Number 1681 is the beer control bill. To recommit this bill to the Ways and Means Committee means giving it a committee that has not been studying it. Your committee has been studying the subject for more than a month past. Your committee may have amendments to offer to the bill. Your committee is working on what may be amendments. Your committee may ask that this bill may be recommitted to it for further study and amendments. To adopt the plan suggested by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling, is to delay beer legislation, and I ask this House not to delay beer legislation.

I urge you to vote down this motion.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I must make a personal apology for the voice that I do not have.

The Ways and Means Committee of this House has for many sessions past been given all revenue raising measures.

The membership of that committee is trained by long experience and by long membership upon that committee to study legislation which affects the revenues of this Commonwealth.

There is no piece of legislation before the Assembly today that with any greater degree of importance deserves the consideration of the Ways and Means Committee of this House.

My friend from Philadelphia has said to you that the reason why the Ways and Means Committee should not be given an opportunity to study this bill is because it has not studied the question. I submit to the House that that is the very reason why the House should support the motion to recommit the bill.

This special committee appointed by the Speaker upon authority of a resolution of this House to study the question of beer or liquor control was a committee, as I understand it, appointed for the purpose of studying the question of control. There is a wide difference between control and revenue.

With all due respect to the eleven members of that committee, that constitute the legislative group to study beer control, I submit to this House that if the years of experience acquired by the members of the Ways and Means Committee is to be thrown into the discard, then there is no use for men to labor day and night, week after week and month after month during sessions and between sessions to adjust and readjust the finances of the Commonwealth.

I submit to you gentlemen, whether or not the recommitting of this measure will mean delay, that delay on this subject is justified by the tremendous importance of the question of revenue which this legislation will raise, brings to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The members of the Ways and Means Committee deserve the confidence of this House, whether it is on beer control or some other control.

I would submit to you that the motion before you should have your affirmative vote.

Mr. SARIG. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, as a member of the beer control committee, I rise to voice my opposition to this motion.

It is true that the bill has a revenue raising feature, but that does not mean that is the essential feature. The essential feature of the bill is beer control. That is the heart of the problem, and the other is a minor consideration.

I want to say to you that it seems unfair, after we have worked for several weeks and have considered various plans and measures, now to step in here on the floor of the House and grab it out of our hands.

I can seen no reason why this bill should be taken out of the hands of the present committee and shifted over to the Ways and Means Committee.

For that reason I ask you to vote down this motion.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the motion made by my friend raises this issue: the Governor's plan is to tax beer one dollar and forty-eight cents. The plan of the liquor control committee was to tax beer a dollar a barrel——

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, my friend from Philadelphia is discussing the merits of the measure.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers, will confine his remarks to the motion before the House.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I will not go into the questions that may be at issue, but I ask you to show by your vote today that this committee has diligently, persistently and consistently labored and worked and that this bill should not be sent to some other committee, merely to delay it.

The Governor today issued a statement—maybe you have not read it yet, but you will find it later on—that possibly prompts this motion. But I ask you to keep this bill in the control of your committee that you selected to draft it, and I want to assure you that when their labors are completed you will be entirely satisfied with the product.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, a reference has been made by my friend from Philadelphia to a statement made by the Governor of the Commonwealth, for whom I do not speak.

It has been my honor and responsibility for many years to be the chairman of the Ways and Means Committee of this House and I covet that honor and responsibility. Through the privilege, which you have given me, I have myself taken a deep interest in matters of revenue and matters of taxation that concern vitally this Commonwealth, and the proposal that I make to you is born out of the intelligence and the light that I have acquired as chairman of that committee. I believe that every measure involving the revenues of this Commonwealth should be referred to that committee, the creation of which is justified by the importance of the subjects which they are permitted to consider. I ask you that you support the motion that has been made for the benefit of the Commonwealth.

Mr. BECHTEL. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I too am a member of the beer control committee.

I rise to oppose Mr. Sterling's motion and for this reason, that if the Ways and Means Committee at this particular time have a bill in regard to a revenue raiser as it would refer to the beer control bill, they can study that bill if they see fit in the Ways and Means Committee and then have the opportunity to set that off against the tax provisions of the particular bill that is now before the House, and if they in their wisdom and their study can show the members of this House that the revenue raiser which they advocate is a better one than advocated in this particular bill, then they can move to strike out and amend the beer bill, either in committee or on the floor of this House, and I believe that I can assure the members of this House that the members of this committee of the House will go along with their recommendations. If they do not they can vote as they see fit in regard to it.

I think the motion should be voted down.

Mr. EROE. Mr. Speaker, I do not find this bill in my file.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling, is informed that the bill is not on file. Therefore the Chair must rule that the motion of the member at the present time is out of order.

RESOLUTION

RECALLING HOUSE BILL No. 648 FROM THE GOVERNOR

Mr. HOFFMAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer a resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, March 29, 1933.

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That House Bill No. 648, entitled "An act relating to the annexation of townships of the first class or parts thereof to boroughs and requiring the consent of the electors of the entire township to such annexation to be ascertained at an election," be recalled from the Governor for further consideration.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 775, entitled:

An Act to amend section five of the act approved the fourteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred thirty) entitled "An act for the protection of the public health in the manufacture and sale of carbonated beverages and still drinks providing for the registration thereof prohibiting the sale offering or exposing for sale exchange or giving away thereof in certain cases unless registered regulating the manufacture bottling preparation mixing and compounding of carbonated beverages or still drinks and the sale and dispensing thereof creating a special fund in the State Treasury and providing penalties" as amended by permitting the use of dextrose in such beverages

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading,

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WILLIAM L. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have the sponsor of this bill explain its purpose.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Allegheny desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill, the gentleman from Luzerne?

Mr. WILLIAM L. BROWN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, you understand that I am not opposing this bill. It is something I am somewhat ignorant of, and I would like to know the object of the bill, the purpose of it. Is it an economic measure in connection with the manufacture of pop and soft drinks?

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman just wants an explanation, I can make an explanation to the House in general.

This bill is simply to bring the act of the State of Pennsylvania into conformity with the present Federal Department of Agriculture ruling. Under the present Federal ruling corn sugar and dextrose are allowed and treated as fruit products for use in bottling. The State of Pennsylvania does not now have such an act. It is an economic measure so far as it allows the use of corn by the farmers to be prepared and sold as a sugar product in the State of Pennsylvania in the distribution of bottled beverages.

Mr. WILLIAM L. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, dextrose is a cheaper product than sugar. Is that the reason for the introduction of this bill?

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker, it is an economic measure to that extent, certainly.

Mr. WILLIAM L. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, at the present time you can make about fifteen or twenty bottles of pop at a penny or two. You know, I would not be opposed to this bill.

I understand that at the time when Dr. Wiley was the head of the Department of Health in Washington——

The SPEAKER. Is the gentleman from Allegheny interrogating the gentleman from Luzerne or making a statement?

SENATE MESSAGE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented extracts from the Journal of the Senate which were laid upon the table.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. PHILIP STERLING, Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 1681, Printer's No. 341, entitled:

An Act to regulate and restrain the traffic in malt brewed and vinous beverages as herein defined providing for the licensing of the manufacture sale transportation and distribution of such beverages imposing taxes and license fees and providing for collection and distribution of revenue therefrom restricting ownership and interest in licensed places providing penalties and repealing existing acts on page 4 of today's calendar, bills on first reading, be recommitted to the Committee on Ways and Means for further study.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. PHILIP STERLING, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, House Bill No. 1681 has been made available to each of you and is now on your desks. The motion, which you have just heard read, is a renewal of the motion which I made within the hour and which was unfortunately ruled out of order, because the bill was not on your desks.

That which I stated to you at that time is unnecessary in repetition now, but I do want to repeat for emphasis that the Ways and Means Committee of this House is the officially constituted committee created and in existence for the purpose of studying all revenue measures that are introduced in this House.

I want also to call your attention to the fact that while the subject of liquor control was by special resolution of this House reposed in a special committee for that purpose, that resolution also provided at its conclusion that the committee, upon the completion of the drafting of legislation, was to cause the bill to be introduced for the consideration of the House. That legislation, which is now before you, is no longer the property of the special committee created to consider liquor control legislation, but that measure is today the property of this House.

This House controls the destiny of all legislation after it leaves a committee, and I submit to you that the matter is of such great importance, if not grave importance to the Commonwealth and the study of its fiscal affairs that no further consideration of the measure should be permitted until the Ways and Means Committee has given it its profound study. For these reasons and the additional reasons I gave to you early this morning, I ask that this motion receive the consideration and approval of the membership of this House.

Mr. SARIG. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I will not repeat my arguments that were made very recently, but I again ask you to have confidence in the committee appointed by you and to vote down this resolution.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. McClure.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. McClure, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCLURE. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. McClure, the sponsor of beer bills numbers 2096 and 2097?

Mr. McCLURE. I am, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. May I ask, Mr. Speaker, to which committee those bills were referred?

Mr. McCLURE. I am informed, Mr. Speaker, that House Bills Nos. 2096 and 2097 were both referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. And for what purpose?

Mr. McCLURE. For the purpose of studying the matter of taxes and revenues which are included in those bills.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, if in your judgment it was proper to refer House Bills Nos. 2096 and 2097 to the Ways and Means Committee because they were revenue measures, I feel that the motion of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling, should prevail, and that the bill now under consideration should be referred to the Ways and Means Committee for the same purpose, it being a revenue measure.

Mr. BECHTEL. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, that leads me to reiterate what I have stated as to why the motion should be voted down: that the Ways and Means Committee can study within its committee the question of revenue raisers as would be pertinent to the beer bills, and they can bring it out on the floor of this House when this bill is under consideration and by way of amendment advance to this House the bill that Mr. Sterling says is the property of this House, and which should be the property of this House, their recommendations as against what this bill contains. The members of this House can then in their wisdom decide as to whether those recommendations should be followed or whether they should not be followed.

I ask the members to vote the motion down.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Philip Sterling and Mr. George W. Williams and were as follows:

RESOLUTIONS

Mr. MELCHIORRE asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer and immediate consideration of the following resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, March 29, 1933.

As he was about to undertake the greatest task of his busy life had known, to enjoy the reward of many years of national service, Senator Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana, quietly and peacefully passed into the great unknown.

Before he had yet begun to enjoy and appreciate the companionship that had come to crown the sunset of his life, death called to him and she was left alone.

His selection by President Roosevelt, from scores of able and competent attorneys for the important post of Attorney General of the United States, was a deserved recognition of his ability, his rectitude, and his courage; therefore be it

Resolved, That in the death of Senator Walsh the Nation has been deprived of the service of one who had frequently shown his ability as a public prosecutor, whose worth as an advisor had often been demonstrated, and whose standing as a leader of thought was established.

That his native State has lost its most illustrious son, and the wife who had known his so short a time had not yet glimpsed the inner greatness of this outstanding American.

That although his ability and his courage will be greatly missed, his career of distinguished service to his country needed not this last crowning honor to make his fame lasting and his place in the minds and hearts of his countrymen secure.

That this resolution be spread upon the Journal of the House, and a copy therefor be forwarded by the Chief Clerk of the House to the President of the Senate of the United States.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. JOHN L. HOLMES. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the sponsor of this bill whether he will explain this bill to this House, and especially as to how it will affect the sale of cod liver oil and liver pills in some of the general stores throughout the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the bill as amended will permit persons who are not registered pharmacists to sell cod liver oil and all of the liver products without the necessity of being a pharmacist.

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Witkin.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Witkin, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WITKIN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Witkin, if this doesn't go further than just the permission to sell cod liver oil and its derivatives?

Mr. WITKIN. Will the gentleman repeat his question?

Mr. STEEDLE. Does this not go further than amending that part of the Act of 1931, excluding cod liver oil; this is corrected to permit the sale of cod liver oil and all of the other emulsions into which cod liver oil enters?

Mr. WITKIN. Absolutely so.

Mr. STEEDLE. Does it also provide for intestinal enzymes and all other cod liver products?

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the gentleman from Allegheny, I would explain what this act does. In the last General Assembly an act of the Legislature was passed which said that medicines containing substances of glandular origin, except intestinal enzymes and all liver products shall be sold by registered pharmacists or under their guidance and jurisdiction. I might say to the gentleman from Allegheny and the members of this House that about two months prior to this Legislature being called I was retained by certain patent medicine people in Philadelphia and on their behalf filed a bill in equity in the court of common pleas in Philadelphia attacking the constitutionality of that act for the reason that under that act the way it was the ordinary person conducting a patent medicine store could not sell cod liver oil or other harmless products. As the result of the filing of that bill in equity there was a meeting there in Harrisburg, prior to the meeting of this Legislature, at which the Attorney General's office, the State Pharmacist Board myself and several other persons were present. It was agreed by all concerned that the intent of the framers of that act in the last session of the Legislature was not to stop the sale of intestinal enzymes. The result was that with the approval of the Pharmaceutical Board and the approval of the Attorney General's Office and the abatement of that bill in equity these amendments were inserted. The original amendment simply cut out medicines containing substances of glandular origin. The Druggists' Association of Pennsylvania said that that was too broad and they entered a complaint to the effect that there were some medicines of glandular origin that were harmful, and a person who is not registered should not be permitted to sell them. Accordingly, we agreed to amend this act to cover their objection, and as the act now stands a person not a pharmacist or under the jurisdiction and direction of a pharmacist cannot sell medicines containing substances of glandular origin with the exception of the same exceptions which existed in the act passed at the last session, of intestinal enzymes and all liver products, and I am informed by pharmacists and by the State Pharmacists' Board that all this act will do is to permit persons without the necessity of being registered pharmacists to sell these substances of glandular origin that are not harmful in any form. and as I understand, include cod liver oil and all of its derivatives. Everybody seems to be satisfied, as well as the druggists and the Pharmaceutical Board and the druggists themselves.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it without amendments.

The SPEAKER. The Chair invites the gentleman from Tioga, Mr. Williams, to preside over the deliberations of this body.

(GEORGE W. WILLIAMS IN THE CHAIR)

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1729 (Senate Bill No. 639), entitled:

An Act relating to insurance companies exchanges associations societies orders and individuals under the supervision of the Insurance Department authorizing the Insurance Commissioner during the existing emergency to suspend laws relating to certain payments by insurers an dto impose conditions upon the conduct of the business of insurance and providing penalties

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I hate to end this truce, which has been going along so beautifully, but I believe that this bill is of sufficient importance that it should be discussed.

This is the bill to carry out the purposes of the resolution which came over here from the Senate a few weeks ago, authorizing the Insurance Commisisoner to suspend the insurance laws. The bill is not nearly as broad as the resolution, I am willing to admit that immediately, but I feel that it is still broad enough to require the careful consideration of every member of this House.

It provides that during the period of emregency the Insurance Commissioner shall have the power to suspend in whole or in part any provisions of the insurance law relating to payments by insurers on account of policy loans, surrenders or other withdrawals of cash at the option of policy holders "in addition thereto impose any conditions upon the methods used in the conduct of insurance in aid of policy holders who may be unable to meet premium payments otherwise than by loan surrender or other withdrawal because of bank closings during bank holidays and generally to safeguard by rules and regulations adopted by him from time to time the interests of policy holders beneficiaries and the public."

In short the main purpose of this bill is to effect that the Insurance Commissioner may suspend the laws which require Insurance Companies to pay out cash surrender values or withdrawals on policy loans. In other words, the poor man who has been keeping up his insurance policy for a number of years is in a position where he cannot continue, where he needs the money. Perhaps he had a little savings account and that is tied up in a bank that has already restricted withdrawals. He needs the money in the very worst way. He has this insurance policy, which he has always anticipated he could draw upon in times of need, and he now faces this necessity and he goes to get his money and he finds that the Insurance Commissioner has suspended the law. He can't get it.

I assume that the argument on the other side will be that it is for the purpose of protecting policy holders generally. That was the avowed purpose of the Sordoni act with regard to banks. The purpose of it was supposed to protect the depositors. However, I have recently seen some figures on what precipitated the banking crisis. It was not so much the withdrawals of the little fellows that had one hundred or two hundred or even a thousand dollars, but in the city of Baltimore, the legislature of Maryland required the banks to furnish a statement as to the names of the persons who withdrew accounts and the amount that they had withdrawn just immediately preceding the bank holiday. It appeared that some of the railroad companies had withdrawn sums up to two million dollars or more, and various others sums aggregating hundreds of thousands of dollars. In other words, a comparatively few, the rich people had gotten what they wanted from the bank, and then they put a law through saying that the poor fellow cannot get his when he needs it. We now have a regulation here to let insurance companies do the same thing. I dare say if an investigation were made that we would find that some of the people that had the largest policies with the largest cash loan and surrender values have already gotten theirs, and that is the reason the insurance companies need to be protected at this moment.

I do not think it is fair to pass a bill of this kind. This measure is worse in one respect than the Sordoni act. Under the Sordoni act if a bank goes on a restricted basis it is in the process of liquidation. When that happens, they proceed to dispose of their assets and to pay off the depositors as rapidly as they can. That practically shifts the process of liquidation from an agent of the Department of Banking, as it was before, over to the bank itself. Possibly in some regards that is a better way of doing it, but in the case of the insurance companies, there is no provision for liquidation at all. It merely says that they can keep all that money. They have got it now and they can keep it, and the poor fellow that needs it worse at this time, probably even more than before, is unable to get it.

I do not think that legislation of this kind should be adopted. We pass laws to protect the banks, to protect the insurance companies, but when it comes to protecting the little fellow during the emergency we find all kinds of constitutional objections.

We passed a resolution a few weeks ago to suspend sheriffs sales. I understood that the purpose of that resolution was to give the Legislature time to pass an act which would extend the suspension of sheriff sales for a considerable period of time. We now have a bill which will come over from the Senate, it will be on third reading tomorrow, which merely carries out the provisions of the resolution and protects the sheriff for having held sales up to April 3rd, but it does not make any provision for continuing the provisions for sheriffs sales——

The SPEAKER. The Chair would advise the gentleman from Berks that he is talking on Senate Bill No. 639, and not a bill coming over from the Senate tomorrow or next week.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I am speaking on this bill before the House, and in order to make my point, I am calling attention as to how similar matters are being treated in other legislation. My point is that if they are trying to give special permission to banks and insurance companies——

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will confine himself to the bill before the House.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I am talking about the bill. I certainly think I have a right to make an illustration by referring to another measure to show the way we are treating similar problems.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has already ruled on the question. The gentleman will confine himself to the bill that is before the House, Senate Bill No. 639.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, do I understand you rule that I cannot point out by way of illustration the way the Legislature is dealing with problems similar to this during this emergency in order——

The SPEAKER. That is my ruling. The gentleman is referring to bills in other states that have nothing to do with the bill before the House.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker the point that I am making and which I insist in trying to make is that we are passing here legislation which gives special privileges to banks and insurance companies, but when it comes to suspensions let us say, of sheriffs sales, we only suspend them to April 3rd and we do not put in any provision that will permit them to be suspended for an additional period of six months or two years as is indicated in the bill for insurance companies, and which was also in the act for banking companies. In the case of evictions, while we passed the resolution on that question and the Senate concurred in it this morning permitting the suspension of evictions until April 3rd, which incidentally is only a few days off, there is no legislation before us, out of committees, which will permit an extension of that time.

The SPEAKER. This bill has nothing to do with the question of evictions.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I insist that I have the right to show this House by way of comparison what they are doing in other cases and in other matters similar to this.

The SPEAKER. The Chair rules otherwise.

Mr. HOOPES. I appeal from the ruling of the Chair.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed and confine his remarks to the question of Senate Bill No. 639.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I appeal from the ruling of the Chair.

Mr. WIKE. Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question.

The motion was seconded by Messrs. Baker, Peters, Zimmerman, Forrest, Nothnagle, Weidemann, Price, Wood, Shreiner, Woodside, Habbyshaw, Sheffer, Wilson, Mumford, McGregor, McCandless, Negley, Hart, Witkin, Metzier, Bennett and others.

On the question,

Shall the main question be now put?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I asked for a division before you announced. ———

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. TALBOT. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. TALBOT. Mr. Speaker, your decision has been made before the gentleman from Berks asked for a division.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken.

Mr. CAPUTO. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a verification of the roll.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill involves a radical change in the financial policies of this Commonwealth. It creates the precedent of issuing bonds, not for the purpose of capital expenditures but for the purpose meeting current expenses. The issuance of bonds for the purpose of meeting current expenses is the process that has plunged the municipalities of this State into their present financial condition. It is an unwise policy. The State of Pennsylvania, if it is to get out of its financial difficulties, must definitely plan to live within its income. This measure proposes that we do not live within our income but shall borrow money. It is a wrong policy, it is a new departure that changes the traditional policies of Pennsylvania, and I am opposed to this bill.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am quite in accord with the gentleman from Cambria when he says that the State of Pennsylvania should not borrow money if there is any other possible way to defray our expenses. I think my sincerity in that statement cannot be questioned from the fact that every member of this House practically knows today that I have spent something over four months now in working upon a reduction in the cost of State government, in order that this contingency shall not happen. The State of Pennsylvania is in a wonderful financial condition. I doubt whether there is any State in the United States that has as fine a financial condition as the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

A wise policy was laid down by our forefathers and in the constitution of 1874 they provided that we should not borrow money or go into debt in a sum exceeding one million dollars. That put us upon a "pay-as-you-go" basis and that is the reason why today we have the strong financial position that we do have.

But we are now facing untried conditions. We know that the anticipated revenue for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for the next biennium is estimated much below that for the last biennium. We know not what future conditions may be, we know not what the effect of those conditions will be upon the tax return of the Commonwealth in the next two years. We are asked to appropriate large sums of money for relief. We are asked by the people of this Commonwealth to maintain the social service that we have been giving to the people of the Commonwealth. We are asked to maintain our educational standards and not to decrease appropriations, but to increase appropriations.

If we do not pass this provision for a twenty-five million bond issue and next January we should find our revenues depleted, if we should find it impossible to appropriate the sums that will be necessary for unemployment relief this State may be confronted with a very serious condition.

I do not want to vote to increase the indebtedness of Pennsylvania, but in the discussions that I have had with business men, from letters that have come to my desk, I find that they all feel that under the present conditions we should have this as a back log and they are willing to support it on that ground. Therefore, I trust that the members of this House will look at the matter carefully and seriously so that we will not be in the position in which we may be placed next December, if we do not have this bond issue as a back log to take care of any appropriations that may be necessary. We are trying to effect every economy possible. There are suggestions to increase the amount of taxes that will come under present legislation, but they may not be sufficient by any manner of means to meet the strain upon the treasury, and we should have this legislation.

Mr. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TURNER. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, will the genlteman from Delaware state whether or not the proceeds of this bond issue are to be used for unemployment relief?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, that is a question I cannot answer at the present time. In the first place, the House has not passed the legislation which would provide from what source unemployment relief is to come, and in the second place the House has not yet completed the fiscal program that will determine the amount of economies that we will be able to make.

Mr. RHODES. Is it not true the amount contemplated for unemployment relief for the coming biennium is twenty million dollars?

Mr. TURNER. The amount of money, I understand, which pertains to the Talbot Bill which is on the calendar today is twenty million dollars for the coming biennium.

Mr. RHODES. Cannot that amount be obtained by economies other than this bond issue?

Mr. TURNER. It is my hope, and if the gentleman from Monroe will support the legislation which is proposed in the Sterling, Flynn, McClure and Steedle bill, and also House Bill No. 22, for which I have been the sponsor, but which is the legislation sponsored by a large group of members of this House, and the appropriation bill as submitted to this House, that it will be possible to have sufficient economies to take care of the unemployment relief without the bond issue.

Mr. RHODES. Then the real purpose of this bond issue would be to take care of the operating expenses of the government?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, that would only be to place ourselves in this position if we leave here now when we are appropriating for the next two years. As the gentleman from Monroe knows, in the 1932 session we were called back here for a Special Session because the Governor said the anticipated revenues were not sufficient to meet the appropriations made by legislative enactment.

If we do not have some kind of a background like this when we go home at the end of this session, and during the next biennium a situation should arise similar to that in 1932 and in 1931, then it would be necessary to call us back for a special session to raise some of the money to take care of our affairs for the balance of the coming biennium. The proceeds of this bond issue would only be used if necessary.

Mr. RHODES. However, if we have enough anticipated revenue to take care of the operating expenses of the government, and also to take care of unemployment relief then in order for us to utilize any of this fund for unemployment relief we would have to be called back in special session, is that correct?

Mr. TURNER. I don't quite understand the gentleman's question.

Mr. RHODES. As I understand we have enough anticipated revenue according to the statement of the gentleman from Delaware to take care of the operating expenses of the government for the coming biennium

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, may I answer that first by saying that I don't say we have enough anticipated revenue. I say that if certain contingencies take place with reference to legislation that we ought to be able to balance our budget without our borrowing money.

Mr. RHODES. Assuming that we have enough revenue for the coming biennium to take care of the operating expenses of the government, and anticipating that we will have enough revenue from the economies that you have mentioned to take care of unemployment relief to the extent of twenty million dollars, then in order to utilize any of the proceeds of this bond issue for unemployment relief we would have to be called back in extraordinary session.

Mr. TURNER. I do not see it that way. As I understand the Talbot Bill, the purpose of those who presented it is to provide the necessary revenues from anticipated revenue, and if that cannot be done, have a bond issue that will be available without an extra session of the Legislature.

Mr. RHODES. Is it not also true that if we pass this bond issue that it will eliminate the necessity of making certain curtailments and corrections in the method of our tax collections.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I think again I will have to ask the gentleman to re-state his question, which involves something outside of anticipated revenue.

Mr. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, what I have in mind is this, that if we pass this bond issue it will eliminate the necessity of making further curtailment and the making of certain changes in the present method of collecting our taxes, for instance, the mercantile and the inheritance taxes.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I would answer the gentleman by saying this; I do not see where the two questions are involved in this question. I think that economy in government is one thing, and in that respect I have differed with his Excellency, the Governor, who felt that the thing to do was to find enough of revenue to carry on the government as it exists. My conception of what the people of Pennsylvania are demanding is not that we carry on the government under the same standard as we did when we had plenty of money, but that we should curtail the cost of government If we reduce the cost of government, we reduce the amount of money necessary. On the other hand, if there are economies that can be made to increase the revenues, of course, we ought to effect these economies.

Mr. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, I presume the gentleman from Delaware would not take the position that this bond issue that he has in mind would eliminate the necessity to change the method of collecting mercantile and collateral inheritance taxes, which would take away a great deal of political patronage from certain organizations.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, I see no connection between the two.

Mr. Speaker. I do not feel that it is germane to the subject. I might answer the gentleman from Monroe this way: my own personal opinion, and not expressing any opinion of any group or party or organization, my own personal opinion has been that the proposed change in the method of collecting the mercantile and inheritance taxes is merely a change of patronage from one group to another.

Mr. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, that is merely a difference of opinion.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Delaware consider the budget as that contemplated by House Bill No. 22 as being in any way superior to the budget presented by His Excellency the Governor?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I would answer the gentleman from Cambria, in this way, that he is just as mixed now as he was the other night on the school problem. House Bill No. 22, is not a budget, House Bill No. 22 is the administrative code which sets up the machinery of government and is not a budget.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, does not the gentleman from Delaware concede that House Bill No. 22 must be a predicated upon a budget?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I do not. I concede that the budget would be predicated upon House Bill No. 22.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Delaware and his associates have presented to this House the foreshadowings of a budget, and those foreshadowings are contained in House Bill No. 22. His Excellency the Governor has presented a budget, the prime difference between the budget as presented by His Execellency the Governor and the budget as contemplated by the gentleman from Delaware is that in order to make his proposition swing the gentleman from Delaware has to be prepared to borrow twenty-five million dollars, while the Governor proposes to run the State as a going concern.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I do not desire to prolong this debate, because there is nothing personal to me in this bill. I believe it is a matter entirely for the consideration of the members of this House and their conception of what is necessary.

The budget of the Governor, again I say, has nothing to do with House Bill No. 22, because House Bill No. 22, was neither built upon the conception of the Governor's budget nor upon the idea that it was to fit the Governor's budget, nor that it was to have anything to do with the Governor's budget.

House Bill No. 22 was to set up a frame work of government and to reduce the cost of government and after that has been passed upon that can be constructed as a budget.

In constructing House Bill No. 22, we had no conception of whether it would be necessary to have a twenty-five million dollar bond issue or not, because there is a multitude of mandatory legislation that has been enacted by the Legislature of Pennsylvania in the past that affects the cost of government far beyond the intent of House Bill No. 22. The administrative code is only one part of those things that have to do with the powers and the purposes and the functions of departments, boards and commissions. There are a great number of acts, hundreds of them, upon the statute books which place mandatory obligations upon the State of Pennsylvania that require money which enter into the making up of the budget. Let me illustrate that by just one thing. The administrative code has nothing to do with the Edmonds act which pertains to subsidies to the schools. The Edmonds act is an entirely different act of the Legislature, and under that act there would be required for the two years, fifty-eight million dollars. That has nothing to do with the administrative code, it is not mentioned in the administrative code. The administrative code has nothing to do with it, and the fifty-eight million dollars therefore would enter into the budget through some other legislation.

The gentleman is entirely mistaken. I shall be glad, after this session is over, rather than take up the time of the House to explain the matter to him.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I dislike very much to impose my rasping voice again on you today, but there is something more to be said concerning the legislation that is now before you. The very next bill that this House will be called upon to consider, House Bill No. 1487, introduced by the Speaker, Mr. Talbot, provides in section 2—Mr. Speaker, if I am not transgressing on parliamentary courtesy when I refer to a measure not before the House immediately——

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia yield?

Mr. STERLING. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I would like to ask the House to grant the gentleman from Philadelphia the widest latitude in his exposition of this matter, because I think it is of the greatest importance and because it involves other legislation and I think we should give him every opportunity to speak upon the matter.

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the gentleman from Philadelphia will proceed.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I am perfectly willing to hear the gentleman from Philadelphia discuss the matter with the widest leeway provided that I shall be given the same privilege when the next bill comes before the House.

The SPEAKER. That question will be answered when the next bill comes before the House.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, if you will not grant me that privilege now, I will have to object in view of the way I was treated a few moments ago.

The SPEAKER. Of course if the gentleman persists in his attitude, it will prevent the gentleman from Philadelphia proceeding along those lines.

The gentleman will confine his remarks to the bill before the House.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House. before the measure which is now before you, may become effective, it will be necessary for the citizens of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to approve an amendment to the Constitution which will permit the bond issue. Not until the citizens of the Commonwealth so approve a constitutional amendment may such a bond issue be floated.

You ask and you have the right to ask what is to become of the twenty-five million dollars if the bond issue is floated. or putting it in another way, what may be the necessity be for a bond isue of twenty-five million dollars. The answer to that requires but a short survey.

We have confronting us now, probably more important than any other legislation that rests in this assembly, the question of relief to many millions of unemployed in Pennsylvania, if for no other reason than to bring that relief to the unemployed in Pennsylvania, the passage of this legislation is primarily justified. You may ask "Well, isn't it possible to find sufficient money either by a change in the collection of taxes or by a reduction in the cost of government below the figures set forth in the Governor budget?" And my answer to that question is a simple one: there is no certainty that this assembly will change any of the laws which now exist with respect to the collection of taxes, nor is there any certainty in the next place, that this Legislature will approve any of the laws or measures that will come before it, the passage of which may reduce the cost of government below the budgetary figures.

But there is another question, and that is whether or not in these troublesome times there is the maximum of accuracy in the estimates that have been given us by those employes of the Commonwealth whose right it is, whose opportunity and privilege it is to present to us estimates of revenue. We know full well how difficult it is for the employes of the federal government to state with any degree of accuracy what the estimated revenues of the federal government will be. It is equally difficult for the employes of the Department of Revenue or otherwise to give us accurate, absolutely infallible estimates of revenue.

Now, you may ask, "Are you the Chairman of the Committee which has been working for six months or more upon recommendations to this assembly through which you will effect economies in government." And my answer to that is, yes, but it is impossible now or at any other time to say that economies effected by the adoption of these revenues, plus the receipt of anticipated revenues, will create in the treasury a sufficient sum of money to make available the proposed twenty million dollars required for unemployment relief.

The joint legislative committee has presented to this Assembly upwards of fifty bills, almost each one of which if enacted into law will reduce the anticipated expenditures of the Commonwealth for the next biennium by large sums of money. We anticipate, for example, the elimination of two teachers' colleges. The mere mention of that question to some members of the Assembly immediately justifies a doubt that the over all figures submitted as probable savings are a possibility. We have recommended the elimination of two medical and surgical hospitals—

The SPEAKER. The Chair will ask the gentleman from Philadelphia to confine himself more closely to the measure that is now before the House.

Mr. STERLING. I will try, sir. In a general way we have made many recommendations, the adoption of which will result in many economies, but the point I wish to make at this time is that there is no certainty that we will have during the next biennium sufficient money to bring adequate relief to the unemployed. The measure which you will consider in a few moments will provide as you will note when you read it. that probably—

The SPEAKER. The bill that will be next considered is not the one before the House now.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I recognize the parliamentary obstruction that confronts me, but I also recognize, sir, that this occasion is probably the most important one and this debate probably the most important one that has yet been submitted to this House.

I submit to you, sir, that the House is entitled to an intelligent explanation of the fiscal affairs of the Commonwealth, and I submit to you also that it is quite impossible to intelligently discuss this question unless a wider latitude is granted to those engaging in the debate.

If the Speaker rules that I must confine myself strictly to the question before the House, which is the bill before you, I will close.

What I may have wanted to say, that if the House—

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I will withdraw my objection and grant the gentleman as far as I am concerned the right to discuss the matter with the widest latitude.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will proceed along the lines he was following.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I first want to acknowledge deeply the kindness granted by the genkteman from Berk, and then in conclusion simply say that we will in a few moments consider a measure which will provide twenty million dollars for unemployment relief, and the very terms of that measure, if you will examine it, in Section 2b, provides that the amount allotted or provided for unemployment relief shall be contingent upon a number of things, among which is the receipt of sufficient revenues from the General Fund, from a bond issue to defray the expenses of the Commonwealth, and I submit to you in conclusion, if for no other reason than the latter one I pointed out to you, this measure deserves the approval of the House.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I rise merely to point out to the members of the House that just before this bill came up the House passed Senate Bill No. 320, House Bill No. 1842, Printer's No. 176, which was a joint resolution proposing an amendment to Article No. IX of the Constitution of Pennsylvania by adding thereto Section 17, which provides for a twenty-five million dollar bond issue. The act before us, No. 321, is an enabling act which will allow the issuance of bonds under that resolution. The act is Printer's No. 231, and if you will look at that on page 2, line 19, it says, or go back to line 17, "said sum or sums of money not exceeding in the aggregate the sum of twenty-five million dollars, as may be deemed necessary to defray the expenses of the State Government during the said biennium." You have, therefore, authorized the submission to the people of Pennsylvania next November, by the bill you just passed the proposal of a twenty-five million dollar bond issue. If that should be voted on favorably by the people of Pennsylvania, and we do not pass this act which is before us we would be authorizing but would have no power to issue the bonds. Therefore, having taken that action, it seems to me it would be an absurdity to give the people an opportunity to say what they want, and then don't give our fiscal officers an opportunity to use the money.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it with amendment in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideratioin of House Bill No. 1487, entitled:

An Act making appropriations to the State Emergency Relief Board for expenditure by it and for the allocation and reallocation to political subdivisions charged by law with the care of the poor or to other subsituted agencies for direct and work relief defining the purposes for which such moneys may be expended providing for the audit of such expenditures and prescribing the powers and duties of the State Emergency Relief Board of cities coextensive with counties and of counties

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WILLIAM L. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the sponsor, Mr. Talbot, how this bill affects this commissary relief plan of the several sections of the State at the present time?

Mr. TALBOT. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill provides for an appropriation of twenty-two million dollars for unemplyoment relief. I say to the members that this bill be amended in the Senate, if the House sees fit to pass it, to read "twenty million dollars," and on page 3, line 4, where it reads, "allowances or transfers from Motor License Fund, the word "transfer" will be eliminated in the Senate if the House passes the bill. This bill preserves the Emergency Relief Board to the extent it has supervisory powers over the local agencies, but it sets out insofar as the City of Philadelphia is concerned that the Department of Welfare in that city will expend the funds for unemployment relief; in counties where they have the one unit of poor boards, the money will be spent and distributed by that single unit, or county poor directors. Where they are numerous poor boards in a county, the money is allocated to the county commissioners, and the State Emergency Relief Board has the power of supervision and audit. If the board abuses the right and privileges with the money given to them or allocated to them, the State Emergency Relief Board can step in and appoint a new board. This bill does destroy the County Emergency Relief Board and does not provide for administration expenses.

I referred on Monday night to the minority lobbyists in this State, and I said that that is one thing that we must withstand during this session of the Legislature. Last Friday I received some one hundred and fifty letters, and up to this morning some six hundred letters written by welfare workers throughout the State, asking first that the county emergency relief boards be preserved in this bill, and second, that money be appropriated for administrative expenses. It does seem to me that the county should be able at least to provide for administrative expenses. It is my firm belief that the people elected as poor directors or county commissioners are the proper people to disburse this fund, because they are answerable to the people in their respective counties, and further if the counties must provide money for unemployment expenses, then it seems to me that they can spend that at a minimum rather than to use State money, because the mass of the citizens do not pay taxes. We have learned through our two previous relief bills some things about relief, while I do not believe that this bill is a perfect one, nor do I believe any unemployment bill can ever be made perfect, I think it is the best thing that we can find after careful study, and I hope the members will vote "aye" on this bill.

Mr. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the sponsor of the bill?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Talbot, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TALBOT. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. RHODES. As I understand, Section 2, clause (b) provides for an appropriation of $15,000,000 providing the funds are obtainable.

Mr. TALBOT. That is correct.

Mr. RHODES. In other words, it is a contingent appropriation?

Mr. TALBOT. That is correct

Mr. RHODES. In the event that this money was not forthcoming to take care of this appropriation then the entire burden of unemployment relief would devolve upon the local districts, is that correct?

Mr. TALBOT. If we would pass this bill, and this was the last body to pass it, and it became a law, I would say, yes. But from the fact that this bill has originated in the House and is going to the Senate it will remain in the Senate until we find the extent of all the economies. Then, of course, there would be no other recourse in so far as contingents are concerned.

Mr. RHODES. The same section and the same clause likewise expects to utilize a portion of the proceeds of the $25,000,000 bond issue, does it not?

Mr. TALBOT. If in the event we cannot effect the economies necessary to provide for unemployment relief.

Mr. RHODES. Will the gentleman from Delaware state how the Federal funds are distributed under the Federal act?

Mr. TALBOT. Does the gentleman mean who has the power of distribution?

Mr. RHODES. Yes.

Mr. TALBOT. The Governor of the Commonwealth.

Mr. RHODES. Does the gentleman believe this amount of money would be adequate to take care of the unemployment relief without any assistance from the Federal Government?

Mr. TALBOT. I don't.

Mr. RHODES. Then would it not mean that we would have two agencies functioning at the same time, one the local poor boards and the other set up as might be decided on by the Governor to distribute the Federal relief funds?

Mr. TALBOT. We can only assume from the position that the Governor has taken so far on the distribution of the Federal funds, which has by recommendation of the State Emergency Relief Board, which will stay in existence under this bill.

Mr. RHODES. Is it correct that if the Governor followed the same method of procedure as is now followed that the Federal funds will be distributed by county emergency relief boards, and that this fund would be distributed in those districts by county poor boards, thereby setting up two relief agencies in a community.

Mr. TALBOT. That would be at the Governor's discretion.

Mr. RHODES. Would that not create a chaotic condition?

Mr. TALBOT. I question whether the Governor when the county emergency relief boards are destroyed as far as this bill is concerned whether the Governor would believe it advisable to set up two boards in a county.

Mr. RHODES. If this bill does not give a sufficient amount of money to the local poor districts, then they would have to raise whatever amount was required to take care of the needy in the county.

Mr. TALBOT. I cannot believe that, because I am satisfied the Governor would allot a proportionate share of the Federal fund to the counties in the same way as he has in the past.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I ask you to vote in favor of this bill although in doing so, I do it reluctantly insofar as the measure changes the method of distribution. I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Talbot.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Talbot, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TALBOT. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. STERLING. Will the gentleman from Delaware advise the House whether or not under the decision of the Supreme Court in the first Talbot case that court decided that the payment of unemployment relief appropriations were subordinated only to the general appropriations for defraying the expenses of the government?

Mr. TALBOT. That is correct.

Mr. STERLING. Will the gentleman from Delaware advise the House whether or not under the provisions of Section 2b of the bill now before you, the payment of unemployment relief appropriation is or is not made contingent upon the payment of appropriation other than those which are necessary to defray the general expenses of the Commonwealth?

Mr. TALBOT. Mr. Speaker, I canont see it.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, as I read Section 2b, the following language indicates to me that we are by the passing of this measure postponing or subordinating the payment of the unemployment relief beyond the point that the Supreme Court decided, these appropriations would be postponed under the decision in the first Talbot case, because the language of the section clearly reads: "In case at any time there are insufficient moneys in the General Fund to meet the appropriation by this clause and a deficiency will or is likely to occur at the end of the fiscal biennium, then and in that event no further moneys will be paid out by the Auditor General or the State Treasurer under the appropriation made by this clause." Lawyers differ on all questions when they are on different sides, and there may be an honest difference of opinion with respect to the construction of the language I have just read, but I present to the sponsor of this bill, in whose integrity and ability and honesty of purpose I have great confidence, that I will vote my approval of the measure, with full confidence that if upon further consideration the sponsor of this bill believes that that language that I have just read means what I believe it means, a proper adjustment of that language will be made, because I take it that neither he nor any other member of this House or of the Senate desires that any unemployment relief appropriation be postponed or subordinated beyond the ordinary and normal expenditures necessary to carry on the business of the Commonwealth.

Mr. TALBOT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to say to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling, and to the members of the House that I shall be very glad if this bill passes, to sit down with the gentlaman from Philadelphia, and the Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau and thresh the matter out to his entire satisfaction.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I expressed my opinion Monday evening as to the inadequency of a two million dollar appropriation for unemployment relief for the months of April and May. I would feel that I was recreant in my duty to myself and to my constituents if I did not express the same opinion in regard to this appropriation.

As I understood the sponsor of the bill, he told us that there were two million dollars to be taken out of the bill in the Senate making an appropriation of twenty million dollars for two years.

Last summer we passed a measure providing for twelve million dollars for a period of seven months. The minimum for any one of those months was one and one-half million dollars. Spreading twenty million dollars over a period of twenty-four months will mean that the appropriation for each month will be substantially less than one million dollars. Unemployment instead of decreasing since we were here last summer, has increased, so that the need for appropriations at this time is greater than it was then.

The only reason that we have not been confronted with direst calamity since last summer was the fact that The Reconstruction Finance Corporation very generously gave to Pennsylvania moneys at the ratio of about four to one to the amount that the State appropriated.

We have been spending for unemployment relief, according to the Governor, who is chairman of the State Relief Board, a sum in excess of six million dollars a month. We are now trying to salve our consciences by passing an appropriation which provides for less than one million dollars a month. It may be that the members of this House and the sponsor of this bill feel that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation is going to continue in its generous attitude towards Pennsylvania. Many people do not think that that will be the case and in support of that contention I would like to read an editorial from this morning's Philadelphia Record, entitled:

HARRISBURG CANNOT 'PASS THE BUCK' TO WASHINGTON

Governor Pinchot and the Legislature should take warning.

The Roosevelt Administration is preparing to force a showdown on relief.

It will not sit back and permit any State to "pass the buck" to Washington.

The half billion dollar La Follette-Costigan-Wagner relief bill provides for a Federal Administrator who will supervise grants of money to the States.

President Roosevelt has made it clear that this new official will be no rubber stamp, but will insist that States which ask Federal aid must also contribute heavily to support the hungry unemployed.

It should be noted that $200,000,000 of the amount appropriated by this bill will be set aside—

"For State grants equal during any quarter to one-third of the total State funds used for relief during the previous three months."

The House at Harrisburg has just appropriated $2,000,000 for relief during April and May—OR ABOUT 50 CENTS A WEEK for each of the half million destitute families in Pennsylvania.

At that rate, under the terms of the La Follette-Costigan-Wagner bill, Pennsylvania will be eligible to receive $1,000,000 every three months, or $4,000,000 a year from the Federal Government.

Pennsylvania will be entitled to even less than that under the relief plans of both Governor Pinchot and the State Organization for the biennium beginning June 1.

The Organization and Pinchot both ask only $20,000,000 for the biennium, differing only on the question of whether the Governor or the poor boards shall control distribution of the funds.

Under either plan only $10,000,000 a year will be available.

That will entitle the State to $3,300,000 from the Federal Government—thus providing little more than $13,000,000 a year in a relief task that calls for from $75,000,000 to $125,000,000.

Governor Pinchot stands convicted of hypocrisy, the State Organization of indifference, if this program is not enlarged.

Pennsylvania must raise at least $45,000,000 a year for relief, making itself eligible to $15,000,000 more a year from the Federal Government.

A total of $60,000,000 a year would make it possible to undertake the job of relief. To provide only $10,000,000 a year is to mock the State's hungry.

Pennsylvania, after four winters of depression, has appropriated only $22,000,000 for its unemployed.

It proposes to spend ony $22,000,000 more for the next two years and two months.

During the last two years, the State has spent more than 120 millions of dollars on highways. During the next two years it will spend more than $104,000,000.

It cannot continue to spend millions on highways and still plead poverty on unemployment relief.

Tap the road fund. Impose an emergency income tax. Raise at least $45,000,000 a year for the jobless.

Harrisburg cannot "pass the buck" to Washington.

I do not agree entirely with that editorial. To be entirely frank I do not think the sum it proposes is going to be enough to feed, clothe and shelter the unemployed of this State during the next biennium. We are confronted with a dire calamity. Two millions of our citizens are now upon relief. The number is increasing, not decreasing. However much we may be of the opinion that the condition will change there is nothing in sight to indicate that they are going to do so at any time in the immediate future, at least not that they are going to change for the better. The indications, on the contrary, are that they will probably get worse.

I know that it is probably improper to stand here and say "I told you so," but some of you will remember that during the regular session of 1931 I tried to get this House to treat the problem of unemployment relief adequately, but you then said it was not necessary to do anything for unemployment relief. The result was that we had two special sessions during the years 1931 and 1932 for the purpose of taking care of the unemployment situation.

Many of the members of this House are very much concerned about economy. Certainly it is very poor economy to refuse to make an adequate appropriation for unemployment at a regular session and thereby compel the calling of special sessions at a cost of a half million dollars or more per session to do that which we should do while we are here now.

The unemployed are idle through no fault of their own. We have no right to tell these men "we cannot give you jobs, we cannot help you by giving you work, nor will we give you food." We have no right to deny work so that they can live. No less a person than Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, said a year ago that before he would starve he would steal. The unemployed of Pennsylvania who are idle through no fault of their own cannot be expected to stand meekly by and starve without protest. I hope this General Assembly is not going to give them that choice but when they attempt to solve this problem and convince themselves they are solving the problem by only appropriating a measley sum of twenty million dollars to feed two million people for two years, and it probably will be more than two million long before the two years are out, it is certainly obvious that it cannot be done.

The Federal Government has served notice it is not going to continue the generosity that it has shown during the last few months. It is not going to permit the wealthiest State in the Union with getting away with appropriating less than one-sixth of the amount that is necessary to feed the starving within its boundaries. It is up to us to do our duty. We can get the money if we want to. We can levy a flat income tax if we cannot levy a graduated one. I am well aware that this is objectionable, but it is very much better than a sales tax. The first duty of any government that is entitled to the respect and support of its citizens is to protect those citizens in their time of need, and with millions of people in this Commonwealth facing actual starvation, we cannot go back and face our constituents after having provided them with a matter of fifty cents a month to feed them. You know that they cannot live on that. You know, even if we get that much more from the Federal Government, they cannot live on a dollar a month.

Who among the members of this House wants to try that; I do not, and I know that you don't.

If these people were out of work because of their laziness or their refusal to do their part, you might have some justification in saying to them "You have to work or starve." I firmly believe in that proposition. I don't believe in keeping bums who refuse to work, but when people cannot get work to earn a living, then it is our duty to see that they are either given that right to work or given sufficient relief and if you say you cannot raise money by taxation, because of the decreased income, then it is time to put into effect some real emergency measures. We should take over some of the industries and put the people to work. We have the capital and we have the machinery and land and moneys within this Commonwealth to produce anything that we need to feed, clothe and shelter all of our citizens, and we have no right to say to a large proportion of our people, "You do not have a right to work, we cannot give you a chance to work; we won't do anything to give you a chance to work, and furthermore, we will not give you enough to eat, you can starve;" we have no right to say that.

That is just what you are doing in this measure, and because of that I expect to vote no. I am in favor of unemployment relief, every member knows I am, but I want adequate relief and I don't want to yield to a program that is so grossly inadequate and go back home and try to explain to my constituents why we didn't do more.

I am going to vote no in protest of the meager amount that is provided here in this bill, in the hope that a majority of the House will vote no for the same reason, and then get down to the job and find enough money for appropriating to unemployment. That is our first duty at this time, and I ask the members of this House to vote down this bill, so that we will have a chance to bring in a real relief measure and put it through, because I have reason to suspect that if this measure and the balance of the program of those that are back of this measure goes over, then you will adjourn on April 13th and let the unemployed get what they may. I say that is not honest, fair or manly. By doing it you are doing in effect what the king and queen of France did prior to the French Revolution. Many of you know what Queen Antoinnette said when she was told that the people cried for bread. She said, "Let them eat cake." You say to the people of Pennsylvania, "Let them eat cake when they don't have bread," but if you do you will be responsible for what follows, and I dread to think what is likely to follow.

I believe in organized government; I believe in democracy, and I want to see this government continue, but I should like to see many of its policies changed, but I want to see that worked out by peaceable, democratic, parliamentary means. But if you are going to say to the unemployed, "You cannot work, you can't get jobs, we won't provide food for you, we won't pass laws to prevent you from being evicted from your homes," then, my friends, you are sowing the wind and you may expect to reap the whirlwind. I ask you to vote no on this measure.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 25, 1933.

Whereas, There exist in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania more than one hundred communities of people living together in towns upon the property and within the limits of property owned by persons co-partnerships associations or corporations and known as company towns and

Whereas, The citizens resident in these communities do not enjoy all the privileges of local self-government common to other American citizens and are dominated on all sides of their life by the owning persons co-partnerships associations or corporations, and

Whereas, From time to time social health economic educational and other public conditions have been revealed as inimical to American standards of public welfare and community life, and

Whereas, There is need for exact and unbiased information in regard to the conditions heretofore mentioned so that appropriate legislation can be enacted to extend to the citizens of these communities local self-government and the ordinary civil rights and privileges of American Citizenship, therefore

Be It Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the Senate and House of Representatives of the nineteen thirty-three session of the Pennsylvania State Legislature hereby request the Governor of the Commonwealth either to appoint a special commission of citizens or direct a branch of the Executive Department to investigate and report upon the conditions of health education local government highways civil liberties existing in communities located on the property of persons co-partnerships associations or corporations in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania known as company towns, and be it further

Resolved, That the said investigating body shall make a report to the Governor of this Commonwealth not later than March first nineteen thirty-five and accompany the same with whatever suggestions or recommendations it may determine to be necessary to better conditions in such company towns

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. GALLAGHER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I would like to state the reasons for this resolution.

1.—House Resolution No. 15 asks the House and the Senate to endorse to the Governor its approval of a thorough investigation of present conditions in "company towns." The Resolution offers to the Governor alternative plans of conducting the investigation. He can either set up a special public commission of citizens or he can select an appropriate department under his control to do the job.

The Resolution also provides that a report of the findings of the investigation should be presented to the 1935 session of the General Assembly, together with suggestions or recommendations to better the conditions in company towns.

The Resolution does not carry an appropriation. This was done out of respect to the present fiscal condition of the Commonwealth. It is the hope of the sponsor that if this resolution is adopted, public spirited citizens of the State would serve voluntarily. If a department under the Governor should undertake the investigation, its cost could come out of the regular appropriation to that department, and, therefore be no extra burden on the Commonwealth.

2.—What is a "Company Town"?—A great many members of this House do not have to be told what a "company town" is. But for those who are not familiar with them, and for those who are so familiar with them as to have become accustomed to company towns, let me give you this description:

A company town in Pennsylvania is in most cases a community built around a mine, owned or almost entirely owned by a single company. The homes of all employees, usually small wooden shacks, are company-owned property. Employees seldom own property of any kind, save for the minimum of personal or household articles.

These communities are usually isolated and self contained. Frequently they are surrounded by a fence. The police are paid by the company and regulate the comings of all outsiders. The churches are most often dependent upon subsidies from the company for at least part of their existence. Rarely is there a place for a public meeting. What happens in these communities is seldom reported to the press. There is the notorious company store. Deprived of freedom of thought, of speech, and of action, such communities are the last stronghold of a feudalism long thought dead. There are scores of such towns in Pennsylvania which in one or more respect meet this description.

3.—Conditions Exposed Many Times.—It is not necessary to argue that these conditions exist. Everyone acquainted with this state knows that I do not exaggerate.

(1) You can find the facts recorded in the official reports of the United States Senate Investigating Committee and in the reports of the United States Coal Commission (1925).

(2) Less than two years ago, the Pittsburgh Press sent its investigator, William A. White, through the mine towns of Western Pennsylvania. His articles appeared in that newspaper, May 18 to 22, 1931. The whole wretched story of company stores, company houses, work without receiving any money, company domination is repeated there, with the added severity which the depression has brought to the people of those communities.

(3) Only last month the Pittsburgh Post Gazette sent a representative through the mining towns. His account is printed in that newspaper, February 6 to 9th, 1933. Listen to some of the headlines which this conservative organ placed upon the reports of Guy L. Ralston:

"Lives of Thousands of Miners and Their Families Dominated with Czarlike Rule by Coal Companies"
"Well Organized System of Espionage Keeps Watch on Workers"
"'Zero-Pay-Days' still Prevail in Coal Towns as Company Stores Collect what Miner Earns"
"Peonage Bared in Coal Towns"
"Miners in Many Western Pennsylvania Areas living in Virtual Slavery, Survey Shows; Evils of Former Coal, Iron Police System Will Persist."

(4) This octopus has not even kept its tentacles off the church. If there was any one thing I had thought so well founded, it was religious liberty. But I was mistaken. In the March 13, 1933 issue of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, you can read the facts I unearthed with the aid of prominent Pittsburgh citizens. In a certain town which I shall not mention, the miners were compelled to make contributions to the churches, or lose their jobs. Think of it:

And while I am on this matter of the church, let me read you this bit from the Pittsburgh Christian Advocate which in its issue of March 19, 1931, said:

"Particularly disastrous is it when the Church is also dominated by the owners of the town. Such cases are, of course, not at all uncommon. What seemed to be a piece of good fortune or of divine providence, when the company paid for materials and labor in the building of the church and promised a large share of the minister's support, has in the end been revealed as a piece of misfortune when the wishes of the corporation have controlled not only the church property, but the policies of the church and the preaching of the minister. There can be no freedom without a free religion."

(5) Finally, if more proof were needed, here is a report in the official organ of the Pennsylvania Department of Labor and Industry: "The Coal Miner and his Family in Strike Times of 1931" by Elizabeth S. Johnson of the Department of Labor and Industry, November, 1931. I have not time to go over this report in detail which in quiet, careful manner reveals the cold, hard facts of the conditions in two typical mining communities. But here you have revealed the pitifully low level of existence, the evil health and social conditions, the suppression of labor unions and strike activity, discriminations, restrictions on freedom of speech, and the almost total absence of local self government.

4.—What the Press Thinks of the Proposed Resolution.—Two years ago in the '31 session, a similar resolution was introduced by Representative Detrich. It was adopted by this House but was killed in the Senate Judiciary General Committee. At that time the resolution secured the favorable comment of leading newspapers of the State, including such well known and responsible newspapers as The Harrisburg Telegraph, Pittsburgh Press, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Philadelphia Inquirer, and Philadelphia Record.

5.—Purpose Back of the Proposed Resolution.—In introducing this resolution, the sponsor acted in the belief that the great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania can no longer avoid the responsibility which the existence of scores of company towns presents. We must do something about them. We cannot delay any longer. As long as they are allowed to stand with their present conditions, they will be a reproach to every thing we care to call "American." They will be there to taunt us with their challenge that the proud, wealthy State of Pennsylvania does not care that thousands of her best and most useful citizens live and work under conditions of virtual peonage. Here, if aynwhere, is the "forgoten man."

The sponsor of this resolution did not introduce it to "get" anybody's scalp or to expose any person or group. He honestly believes that there are brains enough, if there is the will, to find a program of changing these conditions, of progressively working them out over a period of years. He believes that the first logical step in that direction is to find the facts; to sit down calmly with those who understand this problem, and to formulate a plan which this Legislature will endorse. That is the sponsor's only purpose: that Pennsylvania will recognize this problem, and its responsibility to help a great body of her best and most loyal citizens, and then to embark upon a planned program of helpfulness and hope.

6.—Conclusion.—I know, as does everyone who knows the facts, that this problem is in a large way connected with one of the country's sick industries—coal. Coal is one of the great basic, fundamental economic interests of our State. The prosperity and the resurrection of this industry should be one of our first and most important concerns. But one of the first responsibilities of the industry itself is to drive from its midst, or put under control, those who believe that the profits of the industry can be and should continue to be wrung from the labor and misery of the workers. There are many coal companies who do not fear this investigation. There is evidence that they would welcome it as a practical aid to the solution of the problems connected with the industry.

The adoption of this resolution, and the starting of the investigation it provides, should not wait upon the stabilization of the coal industry on some economically sound basis. I maintain this because I believe that human rights come before property rights; because I believe that Pennsylvania can no longer close its eyes to the dreadful conditions which prevail. Gentlemen, you have already heard the rumblings of communism in these company towns. When the State itself forsakes its people, when it refuses to put its protecting arms about a defenseless body of her most valuable citizens, she shall have to prepare to take the consequences. Desperation, long born with patience, must eventually break forth in desperate action. I ask you to act before it is too late, and adopt this resolution.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

BILL INTRODUCED

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I read an editorial in the "Oil City Derrick" this morning commending the member from Elk for not having introduced a bill during the present session. That situation was held up as an example of worthwhile statesmanship. Now, I find to my sorrow that I must break the record, and I am asking the unanimous consent of the House to offer an appropriation bill for my local hospital.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will state before he asks unanimous consent of the House to introduce the bill, that this would be a golden opportunity for someone to take advantage of the gentleman from Elk.

Will the House give its unanimous consent to the introduction of the bill? Are there objections? The Chair hears none and consent is granted.

The bill will be filed with the bill clerk.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair is informed that practically none of the bills on first reading on today's calendar are filed on the members' desks. Are there objections to proceeding with the first reading bills even though they may not be upon the files?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I object.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objections.

We will pass over the bills on first reading with the exception of those that are filed.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentlemean will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. ANDREWS. Does the gentleman from Elk intend any animadversion or reflection upon other members of this House who have introduced bills?

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Cambria desire to interrogate the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Flynn?

Mr. ANDREWS. Yes, Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Flynn.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Elk permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FLYNN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Elk whether he intended by his remarks any animadversion or reflection on other members of this House who have introduced bills, thereby evincing possibly their lack of statesmanship?

Mr. FLYNN. No, Mr. Speaker.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to be furnished with a dictionary. The gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, used a word I am not certain what it means, "animadversion".

The SPEAKER. The Chair suggests that the gentleman from Berks and the gentleman from Cambia go into a huddle after we adjourn.

Did the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, hear the answer to his question as made by the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Flynn?

Mr. ANDREWS. I did not, Mr. Speaker, although I understand him to say he needed a dictionary too.

The SPEAKER. The answer of the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Flynn was in two letters, "no."

STATEMENT BY MR. PHILIP STERLING

Mr. PHILIP STERLING asked and received unanimous consent to make the following statement:

Mr. Speaker. You will find beginning on page 19, and continuing through today's second reading calendar, some thirty-five or forty bills sponsored by Mr. Flynn, Mr. McClure, Mr. Steedle and myself. All of the bills come from the Joint Legislative Committee on State Finance and support recommendations made by the Committee. It was the original purpose of the Committee on State Government that these bills be reported to the House for two readings and then be returned for consideration by a sub-committee already appointed for that purpose.

However since there are so many of these bills it was later thought that much of the useless motion involved in recommitting and rereporting these bills might be avoided if the bills would permitted to remain upon the calendar without being advanced so that, Mr. Speaker, none of the bills to which I refer will be advanced on second reading this morning.

The sub-committee of the Committee on State Government will meet on Monday and consider each of the bills. Those that raise controversial questions will be returned to the committee; those that do not raise controversial questions will remain upon the calendar and be advanced in the regular course of business.

This statement is made, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, because the impression has gone out, and properly so, that the plan originally set up was to recommit all of the bills and in order that there may be no misunderstanding, every member of the House interested in any of these bills or persons not members of the House interested in the bills, will have made available to them a full opportunity to be heard on any of the measures.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling, under consent to make a statement, will be spread upon the Journal.
